8 Tots Die As Train Hits School Bus

BODIES OF CHILDREN MANGLED

Engineer of Locomotive Sees Vehicle Too Late to Avoid Collision

TRACK STREWN WITH DEAD AND INJURED

Pennsylvania Flyer Takes Victims to Ravenna, O., After Crash

(By United Press Leased Wire)

ATWATER, O., Oct. 11.—Eight children were killed, three injured severely and several others hurt today when a horse drawn bus crowded with school children was demolished by "The Clevelander", the fastest train on the Pennsylvania railroad between New York and Cleveland.

Calls were sent for doctors and nurses for miles around.

The engineer of the train saw the vehicle too late to jam on the brakes. A second later there was a terrific crash.

The children, some instantly killed, some dying and others badly injured, were hurled in all directions.

Gather Up Victims

As soon as the train came to a stop members of the train crew and passengers began picking up the victims.

While a score of passengers picked up the little victims, laying their maimed and battered bodies at the trackside, others rushed to the nearest farm house to send in telephone calls for help.

The bus was used by the county to convey children to and from schools.

A few minutes after the crash, the dead, dying and injured were placed on the train and rushed into Ravenna, where doctors and nurses were waiting at the station.

Dazed By Accident

The children who survived the accident were so dazed that their stories were incoherent.

The different versions of the crash revealed a second of terror, a second when the front wheels of the bus were on the rails and the children heard the roar of the oncoming train.

There was no time for escape.

The entire countryside turned out to help the train crew and passengers take care of the survivors.

Mystery Bomb Damages I. O. O. F. Hall

CARSON CITY, Nev., Oct. 11.—A mysterious explosion shortly after midnight partially wrecked the Odd Fellows Building at Virginia City, near here, according to a report to the police here today.

The blast is believed to have been caused by a charge of giant powder, possibly set off by a prowler heard near the building shortly before the explosion. Robert Plant and R. McCart and wife, who were sleeping in the building, said they thought nothing of the prowler's presence until the blast hurled them from their beds.

The building contained lodge rooms, dance hall and the offices of a mining company. No one was injured.

LEGION FOR NEW BAN ON FOREIGNERS

Vets to Ask Ban on Immigration for a Period of Five Years in Convention.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11.—Immigration is expected to furnish one of the biggest fights on the floor of the fifth annual convention of the American Legion, which convenes here October 15.

Garland W. Powell, chairman of the Americanization commission of the Legion, said today that he would lead the renewal of the Legion's fight to have all immigration banned for a period of five years.

Rehabilitation and hospitalization of disabled veterans of the World War also is to furnish a fight, elements in the Legion being dissatisfied with the conduct so far of the national veteran bureau.

THREE DEAD AS BLAST WRECKS SUBMARINE

(By United Press Leased Wire)

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Oct. 11.—The black nemesis of disaster which has pursued the Pacific fleet during the past month claimed three more sailor victims here last night when a battery explosion rocked the U. S. S. submarines S-37 from stem to stern and left it a smouldering hulk today.

An investigation of the fatal blast was to be started today just as the official probe at San Diego into the wreck of seven destroyers and death of twenty-three sailors off point Arguello was nearing its close.

Meanwhile, crews of the submarine division anchored in the harbor were preparing to enter the smoking hull where the bodies of the two missing men, Zanvill Gartner, electrician, of Philadelphia, and Ignacio Arbono, Filipino cook, are believed to be entombed. V. L. Dean, machinist's mate, of Huntington, W. Va., died of injuries last night. Four other seamen were in hospitals here today.

One of the rescuers, F. Z. Broz, machinist's mate, was overcome by gas in an attempt to rescue the two missing men.

GALE TAKES HEAVY TOLL

SAY GROWERS WILL SAVE $800,000

Freight Rate Cut Seen As Bringing Vast Benefit to County Citrus Men

Eight hundred and thirteen thousand dollars will be saved to Orange county orange growers next year through a reduction in transcontinental freight rates obtained through the personal efforts of C. O. Cornwell, traffic manager of the California Fruit Growers' exchange, according to L. D. Palmer, manager of the Orange County Fruit exchange. Approximately $4,000,000 will be saved to growers throughout the state.

According to Palmer, who was warm in his praise of Cornwell, arguments for the reductions were presented to the transcontinental, Eastern and Southern railroads during an extended trip by Cornwell. The application was made in the name of the California Citrus league, which handles the general problems of the industry in this state, and which has a transportation committee of which Cornwell is chairman.

Big Exchange Victory

"This reduction," said Palmer, "which is one of the biggest victories ever won by the California Fruit exchange, means that Orange county growers will profit immeasurably as a result of Cornwell's activities with the railroads.

"Figuring upon next year's orange crop, we find that the reductions will mean an actual saving of $813,000 to orange growers in this county.

"A saving of fourteen cents a box on oranges—or eighteen cents on 100 pounds—runs to an aggregate of between $3,500,000 and $4,000,000, when it is considered that orange shipments from the state in a normal year reach 25,000,000 boxes and more. The annual freight bill averages $35,000,000.

In a statement explaining the effects of the reduction in traffic, Cornwell, in Los Angeles, said the lowered rates probably will be effective within thirty days. Cornwell added:

For Minimum Loading

"This new rate which has been granted by the transcontinental freight committee with the concurrence of the eastern and southern rail oads, provides for a minimum car loading of 36,000 pounds, on which the freight to Eastern points is placed at $1.55 a hundred as compared with the present rate of $1.73 on minimum carloads of 26,700 pounds.

"Minimum car-loading under the new rate will be 462 boxes to the car, compared with 343 boxes under the present tariff. At present, however, the usual practice has been to load the cars six boxes wide, making the average load 396 boxes. The heavier loading under the new rates will tend also to conserve the refrigerator car supply, which already has proved inadequate to handle the rapidly increasing fruit and vegetable traffic from the Pacific coast."

LIFTS MARTIAL LAW RULE IN OKLA. CLASH

(By United Press Leased Wire)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Oct. 11.—State-wide matrial law in Oklahoma was lifted today by Governor J. C. Walton.

Announcement of the end of military rule, established by the governor in his fight on the Ku Klux Klan, was made through Aldrich Blake, executive counsellor, at 10 o'clock this morning. The mandate was made effective at once.

Military rule was lifted by the governor as the legislature assembled in special session to consider impeachment of Walton and to discuss his recommendations for enactment of anti-Ku Klux Klan legislation.

Martial law had been in force in the state since September 15.

In withdrawing troops, the governor said the indictment of the Ku Klux Klan in the state is now complete; that the military investigation is completed and it is up to the legislature to 'outlaw" the organization.

RUMOR EBERT TO DISSOLVE REICHSTAG

BERLIN, Oct. 11.—Chancellor Stresemann left the reichstag shortly before noon and sought a hurried consultation with President Ebert, giving rise to rumors he was asking the dissolution of the reichstag.

It was believed the chancellor feared that the bill giving his government dictatorial powers for six months was not going to pass its third and final reading and that this caused him to ask that the session be adjourned indefinitely.

MRS. KELS TO GET $105,000 INSURANCE

(By United Press Leased Wire)

STOCKTON, Calif., Oct. 11.—Mrs. Alex Kels will get the $105,000 life insurance her husband carried.

Kels, who confessed he murdered a man believed to have been Ed Meserve, permitted his wife to bury the body in the belief that it was his and then disappeared, declared he committed the crime that Mrs. Kels might have the insurance on his life.

Today insurance companies said they would be forced to pay the insurance money when the trap is sprung — and Kels' purpose will have been accomplished.

Mrs. Kels remains in ignorance of the fact that her husband is alive and under sentence of death.

Kels, who remained calm and undisturbed when Superior Judge Young yesterday sentenced him to die, broke down in his cell last night and wept bitterly.

Friends of Kels today were assisting in rearrangement of his business affairs which will include dissolution of the Kels Meat company of Lodi, of which Kels was director and general manager.

Eight Vessels Periled on Pacific Coast Since Sunday

(By United Press Leased Wire)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11.—One life is believed to have been lost and eight vessels imperiled by fire and gale in the Pacific since Sunday night, reports received here today showed.

Captain F. D. Jones of the Power Tug Salomere, is reported to have been swept overboard and drowned off Port Hudson, Washington, where his vessel was taking refuge in a gale.

The freighter Stanley Dollar is expected to dock here some time Friday. She is rushing to port with fire in her No. 3 hold.

The motor ship Kennecott, a great hole in her side, is high on the rocks of Hippa Island, B. C., and is regarded as a total loss. Her crew is safe ashore.

The steamers Redondo, Sunland and Bearport, which ran afoul of the Washington coast in gales and fog Tuesday, all have been floated. They are reported but little damaged.

The British steamer El Lobo, which went ashore yesterday on Roberts Bank ,near Vancouver, B. C., was expected to be floated today.

The tug Equator rests on the mud bottom of the Quilyute river, fifty miles south of Cape Flattery, Washington, after tearing a hole in her bottom by running on Quilyute bar. Her crew was saved. The tug Dolly C., which went aground at the same time, has been floated.

Gales and heavy fog in the north Pacific surpassed in toll similar weather conditions a year ago, when five craft went ashore along the coast of Washington.

The local operator reported he received the call clearly but the rest of the message was garbled perhaps due to the excitement of the ship operator sending it or his lack of knowledge of wireless codes.

The steamer Coahuila reported she was in the neighborhood of Cape San Lucas. Her skipper wirelessed he would attempt to locate the Gorgas.

Stars In Yankee's Victory In Second Battle With Giants

RUTH GETS 2 HOMERS IN FRAY

FOUR HOME RUNS FEATURE CONTEST

E. Meusel of Giants and Ward of Huggins' Team Star With Bat

(By United Press Leased Wire)

POLO GROUNDS, New York, Oct. 11.—Led by the unstoppable Babe Ruth, who crashed out two home runs, the Yankees charged over the Giants and won the second game of the world's series here this afternoon by a score of 4 to 2.

Ruth's two homers into the right field stands and one into the left field stands by Erin Ward, gave the Yankees enough runs to beat the Giants and get back on even terms in the race for the world's championship.

Forty thousand fans saw a transformed Yankee team outhit and outplay the Giants while the National League champions were being held completely in control of Herb Pennock, the former Red Sox southpaw.

Showing no signs of their disastrous defeat yesterday, the Yanks went to work on Hugh McQuillan, McGraw's surprise selection, and piled up three runs before the former Brave right hander was beaten to the showers in the fourth inning.

Ward Gets Homer.

Erin Ward, the flashy Yankee second baseman counted the first run in the second inning when he connected with a slow ball and dropped it in the upper tier of the left field stand.

In the second inning, Ruth, first up, drove a smashing homer into the upper right field stands and three singles by Pipp, Schang and Scott put Pipp across the plate with another run behind Ruth.

In the fifth inning, the great Babe added another run when he smashed his second homer into the lower tier of the right field stands.

The Yank attack, which netted ten hits, was scattered over six innings but the concentration came in three big punches.

In their half of the second inning the Giants tied the score when Irish Meusel drove a home run into the same spot which Ward had previously located. It was the nearest the Giants came to winning the game. In the sixth the champions scored their second run on successive singles by Groh, Frisch and Young with none out but the Yankee defense tightened and stopped the rally.

Pennock's superb pitching and the batting of Ruth, which inspired the whole team, were the big factors in the defeat of the Giants.

Pennock was in wonderful form and he had to be, as the Giants made him work every inch of the way. On orders from the bench the champions refused to swing at anything but good balls and the rather weird officiating of Umpire Hank O'Day made Pennock work hard for every out.

The Yank southpaw was in real danger only twice when his defense saved him in the sixth inning and once again in the eighth when his own cunning forced the pinch hitting Hank Gowdy to fly out for the third out with two on base.

The crowd was estimated at about 40,000. There were many seats vacant in the farcorners of the upper stands and it was apparent that the weather, which threatened rain throughout, had scared away many customers.

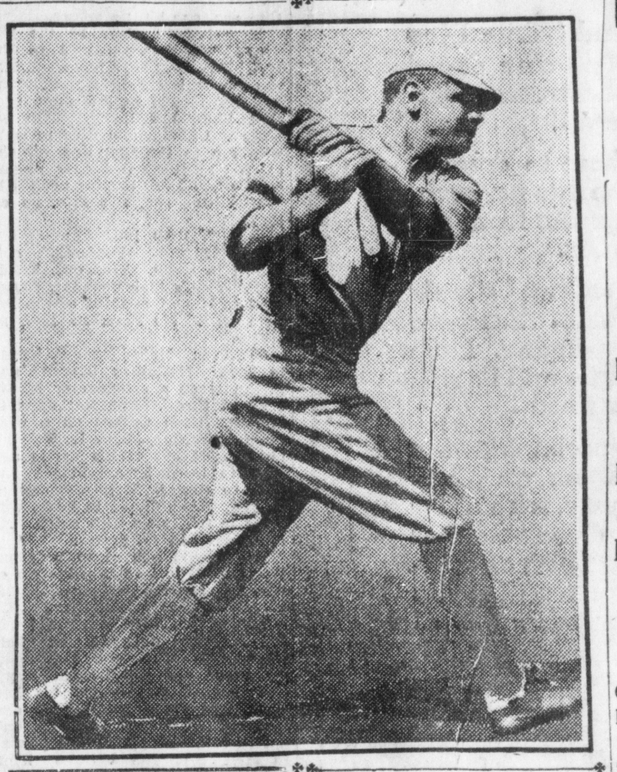

The two teams return to the Yankee Stadium for the third game tomorrow. Arthur Nehf, the Giant southpaw who had been expected to pitch in the first or second game, no doubt will be McGraw's selection, and Miller Huggins probably will send Sam Jones out for the Yanks.

Noted Explorer to Face Trial In Oil Fraud Case October 15

FORT WORTH, Texas, Oct. 10.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, who fourteen years ago electrified the world with the announcement he had discovered the North Polie, will be placed on trial in Federal District court here Oct. 15, on charges of fraudulent use of the mails.

With him, twenty-one of his alleged associates in the promotion of the Petroleum Producers' association here last year will be called to account.

Cook and a few others are expected to plead not guilty. Cook will charge, according to statements he has issued, that the government's prosecution of him was inspired by the big oil interest of the country.

The trial will be presided over by Judge John N. Killits of Toledo, Ohio, especially assigned here for this and other oil fraud cases.

Cook's chief counsel will be former United States Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey.

The number of witnesses to be examined will be greater, according to forecast of court officials, than in any other mail fraud case ever tried.

Cook has been in the oil promotion business here for four years. He was stopped last summer, when the post office department issued a "fraud order" against him, barring him from use of the mails.

It was in September, 1909, that Cook became internationally famous, when he sailed into Copenhagen, Denmark, with the assertion he had found the North Pole. A few months later he was branded by various scientific bodies as a faker. Now the government charges him with humbuggery in the sale of half a million dollars' worth of oil stock to people throughout the country.

Daughter of Ex-Premier Tells Him He Is Not Great Statesman

By ALEXANDER HERMAN
NEA Service Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Oct. 10.—David Lloyd George, ex-premier of Great Britain, and one of the Big Four who held the destiny of the world in their hands during the war, isn't so much.

"And I guess he believes it, too," she says smilingly. "I make him believe it."

Together with her mother, Dame Margaret, Megan is accompanying her famous father on his first trip through America.

"I don't think he's so great as a statesman."

But as a father?

"That's another matter," she said. "He is simply the grandest dad any girl ever had.

"From early morning till late at night, we just keep joshing each other.

"'Pulling my leg' is what he likes to call it. And I have to pull some, to beat his wit!

Miss Megan is a very pretty girl—blond, with hair not bobbed, a twinkling eye and a nose just turned up the least bit. She seems to use no powder or lipstick.

She says she doesn't smoke. But doesn't mind if others do.

"I'm here on a holiday," she says. "I want to see this great country. And I want to meet its people. I especially want to find out what American girls are like in their own land."

Miss Megan is through with school, which she attended both in England and France.

"I'm interested in politics, of course," she says. "I've been brought up in it. But I don't know if I'll ever take it up as a career."

"I hope that father's diet won't be too much disturbed," Megan added thoughtfully. "He is rather regular in his eating."

What does he eat?

"Fruit and fish mostly," added the daughter. "With some bacon and eggs for breakfast; and some soup for dinner. Luncheon is very light, one course of something and some coffee."

"But I guess dad is old enough to take care of himself, when we aren't around."

THIRD INNING:

Frisch's bat slipped out of his hands and flew to third base. Frisch singled to center, Groh stopping at second. Young lined to Ruth, who came in fast for a nice catch. No runs, one hit, no errors.

The Giants started to wait out Pennock when he showed signs of wildness but the pitcher steadied.

FOURTH INNING:

YANKEES: Ruth hit a home run into the upper right field stands. It was a tremendous drive and the crowd went crazy. Ruth smiled and doffed his hat. R. Meusel struck out. Pipp singled in front of Young who couldn't get in fash enough. Ward popped to Kelly. It was a fluke bunt. Schang singled to right, Pipp reaching third. Pipp was helped to third by Young's fumble which was charged as an error to the Giant fielder. Scott singled to center, scoring Pipp. Schang stopped at second. McQuillan was taken out of the box and Jack Bentley, the big southpaw star, went in. Barnes and Jonnard were warming up in the Giant bull-pen. Pennock was laid low with a pitched ball, the first pitch. He writhed around on the ground and the Yanke gathered around him with the Giants also rushing out to the prostrate player. Huggins bitterly denounced Bentley, charging that it was a "bean ball." The ball hit Pennock in the back just below the neck. He came out of it, however, and took first base with his hand on the spot where he had been plugged. The bases were filled. Witt flied to Cunningham, who went away back for the catch. Two runs, four hits, one error.

GIANTS—Bob Shawkey warmed up in the Yankee bull-pen as Pennock started the inning. E. Meusel out, Ward to Pipp on a fast bit of fielding by Ward. Cunningham flied to Ruth for an easy catch. Kelly fanned. No runs, no hits, no errrs.

Pennock went through the inning easily and showed no signs of injury. The Giants were still waiting him out but his control was god.

FIFTH INNING

YANKEES—Dugan out, Bancroft to Kelly on a close play. Ruth up. The crowd gave him a big hand. Ruth hit another home run into the lower right field stands. The crowd went wild. The Giant infield moped around with heads down. Ruth trotted to the bench with a happy smile. R. Meusel singled to right and took second when Young fumbled the ball. It was scored as an error for Young. Pipp out, Kelly unassisted on a bounder. Meusel took third. Ward fouled to Kelly, who ran to the stands for the catch. One run, two hits, one error.

The Giants were still waiting out Pennock, forcing him to work hard for every out.

SIXTH INNING

YANKEES—Schang out, Bancroft to Kelly. Scott singled past Bancroft. Scott was almost nipped off first when Snyder snapped the ball to first base. Pennock hit into a double play, Bancroft to Frisch to Kelly. No rune, one hit, no errors.

GIANTS—Groh singled over second. Frisch singled to left, Groh going to third. Young singled over short, scoring Groh. Frisch stopped at second. Meusel forced Young at second. Scott to Ward, Frisch holding third. The Yanks protested that Young interfered with Ward's attempt at a double play, but it was not upheld and Meusel remained on first. The Yanks debated for a long time around Umpire Hart but he refused to listen to them. It looked like a clear case of interference by the Giant runner. Cunningham hit into a double play, Scott to Ward to Pipp on the first pitched ball. One run, three hits, no errors.

SEVENTH INNING

YANKEES: Witt out, Bentley to Kelly, Bentley leaping high in the air and pulling down a fast bounder. Dugan out on the first ball, Bentley to Kelly on an easy roller. Ruth up. The Giants' outfield moved far out. Ruth walked. R. Meusel up. Ruth was caught between first and second, Snyder to Kelly to Bancroft to Kelly. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Ruth was caught far off first on the hit and run play when Snyder called for a pitch out and snapped the ball to first.

GIANTS—Kelly fouled to Pipp. Snyder flied to Meusel on the first ball pitched. Bentley doubled, making the bag in a slide ahead of Meusel's throw. Bancroft fouled to Dugan who ran to the wall for the catch. No runs, no hits, no errors.

EIGHTH INNING:

YANKEES — Meusel fouled to Snyder back of the plate. Pipp walked. Ward singled past Bancroft, Pipp stopping at second. Schang flied to Meusel, near the third base foul line. Scott flied to Meusel for an easy out. No runs, one hit, no errors.

GIANTS: Groh out, Dugan to Pipp, on a fast play by the Yankee third baseman. Frisch out, Scott to Pipp on an easy roller. Young singled past Scott, after the crowd had booed him. E. Meusel singled to left, Young taking third. Gowdy batting for Cunningham. Gowdy flied to Witt. No runs, two hits, no errors.

NINTH INNING:

YANKEES—Stengel went to center field in place of Cunningham for the Giants. Pennock out, Bancroft to Kelly. Witt out, Frisch to Kelly on an easy chance. Dugan doubled to left center. Ruth filed out to Stengel. It was a towering high fly. No runs, one hit, no errors.

GIANTS—Kelly out, Dugan to Pipp. Dugan came in fast for a slow roller and made another most spectacular throw for the out. Snyder out, Scott to Pipp on a fast play. Jackson batting for Bentley. Jackson flied out to Meusel. No runs, no hits, no errors.

McCaron, who has a record under the name of Paul Johnson, for passing worthless checks, was arrested by Detectives Frank Cummings and Joseph Maloney following a report made by the girl's father, Neno Aielo. Boys' Books Author Goes to Poorhouse

PIQUA, O., Oct. 1.—A writer and author all his life, Thomas C. Marbaugh, 74, at last has gone to the Miami county infirmary, where he said he wanted to go for several months. Early this summer Harbaugh, known for the hundreds of Indian and detective tales he wrote in the old "dime novel days," announced an auction sale of his household effects had brought $100. He was saved from the infirmary then by the editor of an Eastern newspaper, who made arrangements for Harbaugh to enter a hospital at Hagerstown, Md., but Harbaugh did not like it in the East and recently returned home and went to the infirmary.

Red Seal Concert and Operatic

			DOUBLE-FACED Number	List Price
Since First I Met Thee (Watson-Rubinstein) / Gay Butterfly (Hawley)	Mabel Garrison / Mabel Garrison		941	$1.50

"Since First I Met Thee" is Rubinstein's melodious "Romance in E Flat" set as an English song with 'cello obbligato. "Gay Butterfly" is a brilliant waltz song with delightful coloratura passages.

Song of the Viking Guest (from "Sadko") (Rimsky-Korsakow) / Song of the Flea (Goethe-Moussorgsky)	Feodor Chaliapin / Feodor Chaliapin		6416	2.00

The Viking Song is a magnificent bass number, with rolling, surging music like the heave and backwash of great seas. The setting of the "Song of the Flea" is one of the oddest in music.

Etude in A Minor (Chopin) Piano Solo / Impromptu in A Flat (Chopin)	Alfred Cortot / Alfred Cortot		6417	2.00

Two numbers of the highest beauty and importance for the true lover of piano music. Melody, melody everywhere! These pieces are almost without rival.

Melodious Instrumental

A Hunting Scene / The Mill in the Forest	Arthur Pryor's Band / Arthur Pryor's Band		19118	.75

Numbers that will especially please children. The Hunting Scene tells its own story. The Mill in the Forest is quiet and idyllic with a polka tune in the middle.

Light Vocal

If I Knew You Then as I Know You Now / I Wish I Had Someone to Cry Over Me	Charles Hart / Lewis James		19134	.75

These favorite artists have two fine tenor waltz songs—a song of love disillusion, very sweet and sorrowful, and a touching companion song, with a fine saxophone interlude.

I've Got the Yes! We Have No Banana Blues / Jubilee Blues	Belle Baker with The Virginians / Belle Baker with The Virginians		19135	.75

To judge from this record the "Bernhardt of Big Time Vaudeville" has heard too much of the recent favorite street song. This number and "Jubilee Blues" are both with a jazz orchestra.

Dance Records

Foolish Child—Fox Trot / That Old Gang of Mine—Fox Trot	Benson Orchestra of Chicago / Benson Orchestra of Chicago		19136	.75

In "Foolish Child" a saxophone crows joyously above some bell effects. "That Old Gang of Mine" is as good a fox trot as it was a song.

The Frivolous Girl—Tango / Love-Longing—Tango	International Novelty Orchestra / International Novelty Orchestra		19137	.75

These tangos in the Argentine rhythm are romantic in style, not jazzy. They will test your dance skill if you possess it and develop skill if you don't.

Oh! Sister, Ain't That Hot!—Fox Trot / Mean, Mean Mamma—Fox Trot	Charles Dornberger and His Orchestra / Benson Orchestra		19138	.75

"Mean, Mean Mamma" is well-named. The rhythm, melody, harmony and tone-color get into mean combinations—and untangle cleverly. "Oh! Sister, Ain't That Hot!" is another of the same sort.

FRESNO DRY CHIEF BRUNT OF ATTACKS

FRESNO, Oct. —Sworn statements of Sunder Singh, who now admits that he signed affidavits under the name of G. John while he was under the influence of liquor, involving Prohibition Agent Thomas J. Niceley, stationed here, will be placed before United States District Attorney Joseph Burke at Los Angeles. The announcement was made by District Attorney George R. Lovejoy after he had ruled that the case could not be laid before the Fresno county grand jury. Singh is facing bad check charges, on which Lovejoy said he would prosecute. Singh declared that he had never bought liquor at the home of T. E. Collins, Fresno hotel keeper, as stated in the affidavit on which Collins' home was raided, but that he signed the affidavit with the name of G. John, not knowing what the document was. Prior to signing the affidavit he said that he met three or four men in Niceley's office and that they went to a saloon and had drinks. He also signed affidavits other than the Collins' document, and said he had not previously divulged his identity because Niceley had warned him to say nothing. The Collins' case had been dismissed. Niceley would make no formal statement.

AVOCADO FIELD DAY DETAILS ARE TOLD

Complete details of the program for the second Avocado Field day to be held at Yorba Linda and La Habra Saturday afternoon were announced today at the office of A. M. Stanley, secretary-manager of the Orange county farm bureau.

The program, it was announced, will be under the direction of the Yorba Linda farm center. Assembly is scheduled for 2 p. m. Saturday near the Yorba Linda library, where a welcome will be extended to visitors.

Leaving Yorba Linda, the Field day party will travel by automobile caravan to the W. F. Baker grove, formerly the Holloway grove. Interesting features on the trip include the home of the Dickenson variety of avocado and two ganter trees that produced 1060 and 1100 fruit respectively last year.

From the Baker grove, the party will proceed to the W. A. Harper grove, formerly Oliver. A $10,000 an acre grove of old trees and two-year Duttons, prize winners at the Valencia Orange show last May, now heavily laden with fruit, are to be seen at the Harper grove.

A visit then will be made to the J. T. Whedon grove, known as the home of the Fuerte variety, after which the party will drive to W. H. Holloway's La Habra Heights grove of young trees, passing E. E. Knight's Guatemala grove. Knight is reputed originator of the Queen, Rey, Knight, Kist and Linda varieties.

Arrival at the Holloway La Habra Heights grove will conclude the afternoon's travel. This grove is 2½ years old. Dickenson, Lyon and Fuerte now are bearing.

A wiener bake and lunch will be served at the grove.

ALLEGED BAD CHECK MAN BLAMES GIRLS

That was the reported explanation given here today by Joel R. Hall, 26, man of many aliases, for his alleged career in kiting worthless checks, which has landed him in the county jail here.

Under the names of Ray Edwards, Ray Douglass, Ray Stevens and James Lewis, Hall was said to have floated checks aggregating in the neighborhood of $100 in Orange county. He is charged specifically with issuing a check for $28 to J. E. Fair, manager of a local grocery store.

Deputy Sheriff Herman Zahel, who arrested Hall at Newport Beach yesterday, stated today that Hall had expressed a willingness to waive his preliminary hearing and plead guilty in the superior court. The hearing is now set for October 31, at 2 p. m., in Justice J. B. Cox's court, where bail was fixed at $500.

Hall was said to have admitted to Zabel that he has served a term in the Illinois state prison at Joliet, for grand larceny, being discharged there last January.

"I spent my money mostly on the girls," Hall was reported to have told Zabel. "A little went for booze, but not much."

NATIONAL PARK RULES DESTINY OF S. F. DAM

WASHINGTON, Oct. —San Francisco cannot sell the Hetch Hetchy power to others for resale, according to the decision of the solicitor of the interior department, just made public here. Furthermore, Solicitor Edwards holds that the national park authorities are in full control of the reservoir in every respect except that the city of San Francisco is entitled to the water and electric power from this great enterprise.

City Must Complete Roads

The city and county will be required to complete roads in the Hetch Hetchy undertaking agreed to in the legislation and agreement with the interior department when congress passed the bill permitting the city of San Francisco to proceed with the water project.

With the completion of the Hetch Hetchy dam in Yosemite national park by the city and county of San Francisco, there has been impounded back of it a reservoir approximately seven miles long with an average width of one-half mile and a maximum depth on the upper face of the dam of 218 feet.

May Grant Concessions

The question of utilizing the reservoir for motor boating and other recreational purposes as part of the Yosemite National park, within the boundaries of which the reservoir lies, has developed the question as to whether the city of San Francisco or the national park service has the right to control such activities. This question was laid before Solicitor Edwards of the interior department, who, in a decision rendered June 26, 1923, held that the director of the national park service, under the supervision of the secretary of the interior, "has exclusive power to grant any concession affecting the Hetch Hetchy reservoir or the lands appurtenant thereto, which will not in any way materially injure the structures of the reservoir, or hinder the city's use of it, or in any way pollute the waters thereof."

Six Sacks Walnuts Stolen from Grove

Investigation was being made today by Sheriff Sam Jernigan into the reported theft of six sacks of walnuts from the Ed Farnsworth ranch near Garden Grove. Thieves drove into the orchard in a car and loaded the sacked nuts that had been left there, it was found.

Two sacks of nuts were stolen from the Farnsworth place on the night of September 19.

BIG BOY SCOUT MEET DUE AT FULLERTON

Establishing a record in Orange county, nine boys of the Orange county council, Boy Scouts of America, will be awarded Eagle Scout badges at a court of honor to be held tomorrow night at the Fullerton union high school auditorium, it was announced today by Roland E. Dye, county Scout executive.

The program will be in charge of Leon O. Whitsell, chairman of the county court of honor, who has arranged to feature the Santa Ana Rotary club boys' band, under direction of S. J. Mustol.

The Eagle Scout awards comprise the largest number ever made at one time within history of the Orange county council, it was said. Boys to receive the award were:

The program also includes a short address by a prominent speaker. The court of honor then will present the Eagle badges to the Scouts. The Kiwansis club of Fullerton will present to Troops No. 1 of Tustin and No. 1 of Newport the first prize for their participation in the county field meet last spring. Huntington Beach No. 1 will receive the banner designating their winning second place in the field meet. Following this, D. Eyman Huff, past president of the county council, will present the trophy to Troop No. 2 of Fullerton, which indicates that their entry won first place in the Boy Scout department at the county fair. A number of surprise features have been arranged for this program, which will be concluded by showing a Boy Scout picture.

Members of the county court of honor who will have charge of the ceremony are Whitsell of Orange, chairman; E. J. Marks of Fullerton, H. G. Nelson of Santa Ana, and C. C. Smith of Anaheim.

The island of Corfu, known originally as Corcyra, was the site of the first naval battle fought in the annals of Greece, the engagement taking place nearly seven hundred years before the birth of Christ.

2 CHILDREN KILLED IN AUTO SMASHES

TULARE, Oct. —Automobiles claimed the lives of two children in Tulare county. Charles Nararra, 12, met instant death when he was struck by an auto on the Tulare highway, as he stepped from the running board of a truck on which he was riding. A car driven by Harry McMichaels, chauffeur for Rae Graham of Los Angeles, who was also in the machine, swung around the car and came upon the truck, which had stopped to let the boy off. The driver did not see the boy, who was dragged seventy-five feet before the car was stopped.

While attempting to cross the highway near the Presbyterian church in Orosi, the 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hammer of East Orosi was killed instantly by an auto driven by A. W. Lebaron.

Stockon Citizen Gains 30 lbs. Taking Tanlac

"For ten years, or more," said Carl Glusing, 24 South California St., Stockton, Calif., "my stomach never let me have any peace. After eating I would bloat up with gas and almost double up with pains in the pit of my stomach.

"Many a day these pains never let up at all and many a night I would roll and toss, in such misery I couldn't sleep a wink. In fact, this indigestion made life miserable and work a burden to me.

"It was a lucky day for me when I bought Tanlac, for I started picking right up. So I stuck right to Tanlac with the result that my stomach trouble is ended and I have actually gained thirty pounds in weight. I eat anything I want, sleep good ever night, and feel like working every day. Tanlac is great, there's no getting around that fact."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

In by-gone days such exquisite intimate garments were never mentioned in public, but these Teddies are far too lovely not to talk about. They're new, and they're made of Crepe de Chine and Radium silks, in such colors as Orchid, Peach, Pink and White. There are tailored garments, and with trimmings of laces and ribbons.

Styles were never more charming.

FRESNO PARLEY LURES LOCAL KIWANIANS

Interspersed with business and speeches, yesterday's meeting of the Kiwanis club at the St. Ann's Inn resulted in twenty-five members of the club signifying their intentions of attending the Kiwanis conference to be held at Fresno November 16 and 17. O. H. Barr, president of the club, George Wells and A. N. Zerman were elected delegates to the convention, while Arnold Peek, N. Neff, and J. A. Cranston were chosen alternates.

"We are endeavoring to make taxpayers out of tax consumers, to make Salvation Army mean all that it stands for, and to fit into the needs of Santa Ana to the best of our ability," said Ensign A. Kranz, secretary of the home service department of the Salvation Army in Southern California, in the main address of the meeting.

Stresses Purpose

He stressed the purpose of the Salvation Army to help those in need to help themselves, and to make every "down-and-out" man realize that he is "captain of his own soul." His appeal was based on the worth of the Salvation Army as an institution which refused to believe that a man is beyond aid in moral decrepancy.

R. R. Miller, county probation officer, heartily approved the work the Army is doing in Santa Ana, testifying to the good accomplished and particularly commending the Children's Home at Lipton, Calif., and the Rescue Home for girls in Los Angeles.

"There is a spirit pervading those places which takes away all taint of professionalism," he said. "This atmosphere seems to rejuvenate the best that is in every soul, and makes the inmate realize that a deep personal interest is being manifested in his behalf. The Army is admirably organized and adapted to going into the homes of juvenile delinquents and accomplishing what we officers cannot."

Boosts For Army

"I am a booster for the churches, the Boy Scouts and the Y. M. C. A., but we here in Santa Ana are not through until we include the Salvation Army in the list of foremost beneficial organizations."

The Rev. Otto S. Russell, pastor of the First Baptist church, spoke highly of the Kiwanis motto, which, he said, signified the building of character and the finer things of life as well as of the material externals.

"It is what we contribute to the life of our fellow men, the wholesouled giving of one's self in dedication to that which he conceives is right, that forms the basic fundamentals upon which the superstructure of civilization is erected, and which governs the law of returns," he said. "That is the spirit which I believe permeates the Kiwanians and makes them of value to the civic community."

His shoulders were badly bruised and wrenched when he was struck by the top of the other car and his face was cut. He also suffered body bruises and sprained his right ankle again. It was injured nearly a month ago.

J. Tinsley, chief of the Huntington Beach police force, and L. F. Gates, city engineer of Huntington Beach, were visitors at the Tustin union high school yesterday. They were looking over the sprinkling system of the high school with the idea of securing a satisfactory system for their new city hall grounds.

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels just like calomel—yet have no dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results. Millions of boxes are sold annually at 15c and 30c.—Adv.

Former Partner Fails To Force Accounting

Thomas E. Locey, Anaheim advertising salesman, had failed here today in his attempt to secure a court order for an accounting from G. E. Brookins, owner of the Brea Progress, a weekly newspaper, in which Locey formerly owned a half interest.

Superior Judge Z. B. West, hearing the case late yesterday granted a motion for non-suit, thus throwing the case out of court. The defense contended that Locey had failed to show any valid rights to an accounting or a distribution of assets, because of having failed to keep a partnership agreement to pay a certain sum for the half interest. It was alleged that Locey had paid nothing to Brookins.

GIRL HAS MATE JAILED NAMING WOMAN, 40

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9 — Four times married and thrice divorced, J. D. Rapken, son of M. A. Rapken, retired wholesale liquor dealer of San Francisco, was served with papers in a fourth divorce action, the service occurring within ten hours after his wife, Mrs. Alma Rapken, and private detectives surprised Rapken and one of his divorced wives, Mrs. Nellie Rapken, in an apartment at 1645 Golden Gate avenue.

The complaint names Mrs. Nellie Rapken as the co-respondent. Rapken is 39 years old. His wife is 19. The co-respondent is said to be 40 years old.

Apartment Raided

Rapken's latest marital entanglement reached a crisis when his wife accompanied by her attorney, Grove O'Connor, Police Detective Rasmus Rasmussen and private detectives raided the Golden Gate avenue apartment and found Rapken and his divorced wife, Mrs. Nellie Rapken, in scanty attire. Rapken was arrested on a statutory charge. His divorced wife was not arrested.

When Rapken appeared before Police Judge Lazarus yesterday morning in answer to the charge, Attorney O'Connor served divorce papers on him.

Charge Continued

The statutory charge was continued until October 11. Rapken left the courtroom refusing to discuss the charge.

The incumbent Mrs. Rapken was married to Rapken on April 28 of this year, three days after Mrs. Nellie Rapken obtained a final decree of divorce. While Rapken was unwilling to discuss his marital troubles, the present Mrs. Rapken was quite willing to detail the episode which resulted in Rapken's arrest.

"Because I suspected him of infidelity I left him three weeks ago," Mrs. Rapken said. "I had reason to believe that my husband was passing most of his time with his divorced wife and at last my father and I located them in the apartment on Golden Gate avenue.

"Caught with the Goods"

"We took turns playing sleuth and shadowing the place and early this morning we caught them with the goods."

With an amused smile, Mrs. Rapken gave an account of her husband's movements on the day and night of October 1, much of which time was passed in the Golden Gate avenue apartment by Rapken and his divorced wife, she asserted, yet, on the same day, Mrs. Rapken received two letters from her husband in which he detailed his burning love for her and his loneliness since their separation.

Rapken married his fourth wife after a whirlwind courtship last April. Mrs. Rapken No. 4 at that time was Miss Alma Haaga, his stenographer. The pair eloped to San Jose on April 28 and were married by a justice of the peace.

"The next day we had our honeymoon—one day—at Alum rock." Mrs. Rapken said. "In all, we lived together only nine days.

In addition to her suit for divorce, Mrs. Rapken also filed suit for $4850, which, she alleges, Rapken owes her on the terms of an agreement he signed several months ago, but has failed to pay. The agreement, Mrs. Rapken asserted, was drawn up by her "to keep him from being a bad boy."

Says Wife Left Him, Husband Seeks Decree

Amos E. Egly, whose suit for divorce from Alette S. Egly was on file today in the superior court here, alleged that his wife deserted him on May 4, 1922. The couple were married in Chicago August 31, 1904.

Egly, who is represented by Attorney A. E. Koepsel, asks custody of a son, aged 16.

Landlord Sues to Force Tenants from Property

A. F. Smith, Santa Ana, today had appealed to the superior court here to oust tenants of property at 1312 West Second street, which Smith claims belongs to him and which he says is unlawfully held by Mr. and Mrs. George Barnhill.

Requests to move have been ignored by the Barnhills, Smith states. Attorney J. A. Gardiner represents Smith in the suit.

Light Bearers

Little Light Bearers of the Presbyterian church will hold a walnut shower at the church Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the nuts all to be sent to the Chinese orphans of the Tooker school at Oakland.

Mrs. L. D. Mercereau will tell of a recent visit to the school and Mrs. Bruce Monroe will tell a missionary story of India after which the children will enjoy Hallowe'en games and refreshments.

BEAUTY SEEKING EVIDENCE ON MILLIONAIRE

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.—Mrs. Onezina de Bouchelle, famed New Orleans beauty, who was jilted by the aged Asa G. Candler, multimillionaire, is in San Francisco again, but this time on a sadder mission by far than that which brought her here a year ago.

Twelve months have scarcely passed since the dark-eyed beauty was happily wending her way in and out of the shops on Geary and Market streets, selecting here and there exquisite pieces of finery for her trousseau. Candler was to have met her here a week thence for the ceremony, which would have put into her hands the wherewithal to continue her philanthropic work on a larger scale.

The whispering voice of scandal changed all that. Asa Candler listened to and believed the tales that came to him of Mrs. de Bouchelle's relations with two traveling salesmen whom she is alleged to have entertained in her hotel room. The soft drink potentate wrote her several disparaging letters, then married stenographer —Mrs. May Little Ragin.

So that is how it happens that the statuesque Mrs. de Bouchelle now wanders disconsolately through the shopping marts of San Francisco or keeps to her suit in the Plaza Hotel, shunning the light of publicity. What was once emience has become notoriety. What were once the streets of paradise have become sloughs of despond.

Woman Silent

Mrs. de Bouchelle will neither affirm nor deny that she is here in quest of evidence to be used in her half-million dollar breach of promise suit against the aged millionaire, which is still pending in the courts.

"I most certainly shall press the suit with all my effort and energy," Mrs. de Bouchelle declared spiritedly. "But meantime my attorneys have enjoined me to say absolutely nothing about the affair."

Missionary Society

Yesterday afternoon the Woman's Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church held its October meeting, with the first vice-president, Mrs. C. B. Buxton, presiding.

During a short business meeting suggestions were made to be submitted to the building committee, describing a room suitable as a meeting place for the society. A call came from the Spanish school in Los Angeles, for bath towels, and it was decided to hold a shower next Sunday morning, Miss M. Ida Mitchell to receive the gifts in the entranec hall, as members enter for church services.

Mrs. E. P. Stafford was in charge of the program, which dealt with the younger generation. Mrs. Anna Gall led the devotionals and took as her topic the "We knows" of the epistle of I John, giving many verses containing these words, written by John in the latter days of his eventful life.

Mrs. Charles Johnson delighted her hearers with a beautifully rendered solo, accompanied by Mrs. Hogg on the piano.

The topic for the afternoon was most fittingly carried out by the younger generation appearing on the program. Miss Dorothy Sammis outlined the Young People's rally recently held in the Immanuel Presbyterian church in Los Angeles, where needs for missionary workers were vividly portrayed by pageants; Miss Annie Anderson interestingly told of the meeting of the young people of the Synodical at Asilomar. Miss Elizabeth Herrington told of the vesper services conducted by Dr. McAfee at the Occidental conference; Miss Mary Roberts spoke of the recreation at this conference, and feelingly referred to how "stunt night" was unexpectedly turned into a memorial service for our late beloved President, Warren G. Harding.

Mrs. D. L. Mercereau gave a graphic picture of her late visit to the Chinese Rescue home in San Francisco, and the Tooker Memorial for the smaller Chinese girls.

News Notes of Interest To Clubwomen

Young Married Set Is Entertained at Gay Costume Party

Stepping back to an earlier day for costume inspiration, members of the young married set entered enthusiastically into plans for a hard-time costume dancing party presented last night by Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Edgar and Mr. and Mrs. L. A. McCain at the George Edgar home, 302 East Chestnut street.

The key-note of merriment was sounded with the arrival of the guests who were greeted at the door by Mr. Edgar, in extremely formal outfit of dress coat, white silk hat, white gloves and overalls and as a crowning glory, a gray toupee.

His fellow host, Mr. McCain had evidently fallen heir to one of Ex-President William Howard Taft's suits for his trousers wrapped gracefully around his form and reaching up under his arms, were secured by vivid suspenders. His hat was as small for him as the trousers were large.

The hostesses, Mrs. Edgar and Mrs. McCain each wore frocks of a different period, Mrs. Edgar with a gray wig, small black bonnet, old-fashioned black taffeta dress and typical "old-lady" shoes, impersonating a quaint old grandmother while Mrs. McCain in a full skirt and an old-time basque buttoned clear to the chin, was far more worldly.

Bridge was introduced early in the evening and at the close of a few hands, a blossoming cyclamen was awerded Mrs. Henry Lockett and a carton of cigarettes given Thomas Willits jr. for making high score. A bottle of bath salts and a key container brought consolation to Mrs. John Jacobs and Mr. Lockett who scored low.

Costume prizes were presented to Mrs. John Irvin whose funny little "spit curls" were crowned by an even funnier hat with the funniest feather on it, and whose decidedly unconventional garb might be augmented in really cold weather by the red flannels which peeped from the carpet bag she and her husband carried between them. Mrs. Irvin's gift was a charming box filled with bon-bons while an ash tray was costume prize for James Livesey jr. who seemed in danger of bursting through the tight knickerbockers and the small boy's blouse he wore. Big glasses, a windsor tie and round little straw hat completed his outfit.

Dancing completed the evening's merriment with a Paul Jones adding its pleasures as the strangely-clad guests made rapid change of partners.

At a late hour, all lined up with their trays as the sound of the dinner bell was heard, and supper was enjoyed in true cafeteria fashion.

Entering into the spirit of the affair and appearing in all manner of amusing garb were Messrs. and Mesdames James Livesey jr., Thomas Willits jr., Don Andrews, Fred Chapman, Earl Abbey, John Jacobs jr., Howard Timmons, Anthony Adams, Ernest Fulsom, Willard Nelson, Kenneth Scovell, Z. Bertrand West jr., Henry Leckett, Charles Kendall jr., John Irvin, Spencer Collins, Robert Paine, Otto Jacobs, Elmer Preston, Homer Robinson, H. E. W. Barnes jr., Donald MacDonald.

Mrs. Henry Burger Tells How Cuticura Healed Sister

"When my sister was only a few days old eczema broke out all over her head and body. The skin was very red with small white-topped pimples which grew larger and spread, forming sore eruptions, until she was completely covered. She was very fretful and cross and we had to keep cotton around her as the eruptions were so sore that she could hardly stand to be touched.

"A neighbor suggested that we try Cuticura Soap and Ointment so we purchased some and in one month she was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. Henry Burger, Glasgow, Mont.

Quiet Ceremony Unites Pair of Well-known Young People

The loving interest of hosts of Santa Ana friends was today following Mr. and Mrs. John D. Arnim to their new home in Anaheim following the quiet marriage yesterday which united Miss Esther Otto of Costa Mesa and Mr. Arnim of Brea.

The impressive vows were taken by the young people before the Rev. Perry F. Schrock of the Congregational church of this city and the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Otto were the only ones present.

Miss Otto was gowned in dark blue satin Canton trimmed with hand-made roses. A charming hat harmonized with the costume. She has a host of Santa Ana friends gained during her school-days at Polytechnic High school, who were deeply interested in her nuptials.

Mr. Arnim is in the employ of the Shell Oil company and at present is located at Brea although the young people will make their home in Anaheim where they will welcome their friends.

Departure For Florida Offers Incentive For Farewell Gathering

Meeting to honor Mrs. C. A. Caswell who plans an early departure for Florida for the winter, was a happy group of a dozen neighborhood friends at the Jay C. Hamil home Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Caswell's daughter, Mrs. Hamil, was apprised of the plan for the party and had the home decorated with fall flowers. Chief among these were two great clusters of dahlias, one of a rich, dark red and the other a mass of delicate orchid tints, sent by Mrs. H. C. Files in greeting to the honoree.

A happy afternoon of chat and needlework was completed by a delicious little supper of creamed shrimps in patty shells, almond salad, wafers, pumpkin pie with whipped cream and coffee.

Mrs. Caswell will spend the winter in Lakeland, Florida, with her brother, John Williams and in the spring will return to Santa Ana by way of New York City, Cleveland and Chicago.

Enjoying the pleasant afternoon with Mrs. Caswell and Mrs. Hamil were mesdames John W. Elliott, E. S. O'Brien, George A. Rowell, Fred M. Robinson, George Preble, M. J. Wilson, John Record, Allie M. Cain, Charles W. Bowers and R. E. Whitted.

Week Kindergartners Enjoy Park Party With Teacher

Birch park, always an ideal play-ground for happy children, wore one of its most welcoming smiles yesterday morning when the small folk of the morning session at Spurgeon kindergarten were taken there by their teacher, Miss Maurie Hamil, for a morning's romp and a merry luncheon.

Each tiny maid or man carried an individual luncheon and as an added joy was the gift of Mrs. H. C. Files whose small son Clyde is one of the kindergarten group. For Mrs. Files baked animal cookies, a regular Noah's Ark of them, seven different varieties and each little picnicker had one of each kind!

The children met at the school for regular session and then, shepherded by Miss Hamil, marched to the park. The happy morning was followed by an orderly return to school for dismissal exercises after which they all went home, giving their place to the little people of the afternoon session who will enjoy a similar picnic next spring, with Miss Hamil directing it.

Two small people of the class, Beverly Wingard and Billy Johnson were disconsolate because they were ill and couldn't attend, but other girls and goys enjoying the romp were Marian Adams, Hazel Brown, Arline Cooley, Ruth Curren, Mary Elizabeth Emison, Geraldine Gilbert, Roberta Horton, Jessie Lois Julien, Josephine Keeler, Laura Nissen, Marie Salmon, Roselle Stansfield, Freda Wagner, Mourton Allison, Carl Lee Aubrey, Gordon Barton, Lester Bock, Eugene Bosworth, Clyde Files, Donald Kennedy, Bobby McCreery, Charles Golden, James Noble, Dick Phillips, Gail Trent, Lawrence Trickey, Robert Warren, Charles Wells and J. L. Adams.

Delta-Alpha Class

Miss Etta Hale of 451 Hickey street entertained the Delta Alpha class of the First Methodist Sunday school, Tuesday evening with a Hallowe'en party. Decorations were black cats, witches, bats and beautiful yellow dahlias.

The guests arrived dressed as spooks and caused much merriment in attempts to guess their identity ere they unmasked. Different fortune telling games and other Hallowe'en games were played. The hostess served delicious pumpkin pie, doughnuts and coffee at the close of a very jolly evening.

Those present beside the hostess were the Misses Beulah Stone, Lilly and Lena Confer, Mamie Lamb, Irma DeBarr, Mattie Smith, Clara Barnes, Edna Knoll, Elizabeth and Laura Sherman, Cora Craig, Minnie Wild, Olive and Bertha Briney, Maude and Alta Thomas, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Drake, Mrs. Johannessen, Mrs. Alexander and Mrs. Hale.

Parent-Teachers

When members of the P.-T. A. throughout the county gather at Tustin Union High school Saturday, October 13, for the all-day session of the Fourth District P.-T. A. they will be greeted by the state president, Mrs. Bradley, who will have in her party many distinguished Los Angeles workers.

These will include Mrs. Noble, long prominent in both district and state work and who will be warmly remembered by many Orange county friends who met her at one of the P.-T. A. luncheons honoring the national president.

Santa Ana association members who plan to attend the session have been assured that Tustin busses will run every half hour and it is expected that the drivers will stop directly in front of the high school upon request of passengers.

Local Girl Is Member Of Wedding Party In Inglewood

Miss Louise Shugart has returned from Inglewood where she spent the week-end with friends and took part in the Waite-Haenggi wedding of recent date.

The marriage of Miss Elizabeth Waite and James Haenggi was of interest to many friends here where Miss Waite has visited at different times.

A pretty affair at the home of the bride's parents, it featured in addition to the bride and groom, Miss Shugart as maid of honor, gowned in a clever little frock of changeable blue taffeta, and the bride's brother, John Waite, as best man.

Blue was also chosen by the bride, who was gowned in midnight blue Canton crepe, elaborately beaded. Following the ceremony at 6 o'clock, the new Mr. and Mrs. Haenggi were accorded places of honor at a flower-decked table with other guests gathered around for an elaborately served dinner. Following their return from a honeymoon trip through the south, Mr. and Mrs. Haenggi will make their home in Inglewood and Miss Shugart hopes soon to entertain them at her home, 305 Fruit street.

SOPRANO HOLDS INTEREST IN EVENT HERE

In keen anticipation, music lovers of Santa Ana today were waiting the appearance of Miss Alice Mosher, soprano, who is scheduled to assist the May McDonald Hope trio in concert at the high school auditorium at 8 o'clock tonight, according to Harry Warne, president of the Santa Ana Musical association. This is the first concert in a series of four arranged by the local organization.

Season tickets for the entertainments, Warne indicated, are not selling as rapidly as the committee anticipated, although 400 Santa Anans have purchased admittance cards to the series. Reserved seats, he said, may be obtained at the box window at 7 o'clock.

Interest centers in Miss Moshly, Warne declares, because of the unique manner in which she first appeared in concert throughout the United States. In 1916, he says, the popular songstress won a competitive contest in Denver, Colo., and was immediately acclaimed one of the greatest sopranos in the country.

Beside Miss Mosher, Warne stated, other famous artists who will appear tonight are Lubovisky and Bronson. These, he asserted, will give musical Santa Ana some of the best examples of talent obtainable.

Those who will appear in concert for the next three of the series are Venno Boisevitsch, famous pianist, November 7; Philharmonic orchestra, March 11, and Renato Zanelli, one of the country's leading baritones, April 1.

New Method Heals Rupture

Kansas City Doctor's Discovery Makes Truss or Operation Unnecessary.

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—(Special).—A new discovery which, experts agree, has no equal for curative effects in all rupture cases, is the latest accomplishment of Dr. Andrews, the well known Hernia specialist of this city. The extraordinary success of this new method proves that it holds and heals a rupture. Has no hard gouging pads, no elastic belt, no leg straps, no steel bonds, and is as comfortable as a light garment. It has enabled hundreds of persons to throw away trusses and declare their rupture absolutely healed. Many of these had serious double ruptures, from which they had suffered for years. It is Dr. Andrews' ambition to have every ruptured person enjoy the quick relief, comfort and healing power of his discovery, and he will send it on free trial to any reader of The Register, who writes him at his office 2761 Koch Bldg., Kansas City, Mo. He wants one person in each neighborhood to whom he can refer. If you wish to be rid of rupture for good, without an operation, take advantage of the doctor's free offer. Write him today.

COUNTY SCORES ENCYCLOPEDIA LOT VICTORY

Under a decision rendered here today by Superior Judge Z. B. West the county of Orange retains rights to streets dedicated by Vallee O. Appel, subdivider of the so-called "encyclopedia lots" near Huntington Beach, and purchasers of lots abutting upon the streets in question are thereby successful in their fight for oil royalties on property to the center line of the street, which Appel recently sought to wrest from them in his suit to recover title to the streets by attacking the county's rights to the streets.

The royalty angle, while not involved directly in the case before the court, directly hinged upon the outcome of Appel's suit to "quiet title," filed against the County of Orange, in which action, Supervisor William Schumacher, who owns a block of the lots abutting on the streets involved, appeared as intervenor. Thousands of dollars in royalties were said to be involved.

Judge West's decision rejected Appel's claim that the county had never accepted the dedication of the streets and that title therefore reverted to him. The decision affects three lots in tract 62, which were dedicated as streets.

Deputy District Attorney D. G. Wettlin, representing the county, filed a brief contending that the streets had been accepted and the legality of the acceptance was shown from the records of the supervisors, not contraverted by other evidence.

Attorney W. F. Menton represented Schumacher as intervenor. Appel was represented by Attorneys Glenn E. Huntsberger, Howard Reynolds and Alfred E. Dennis, of Los Angeles.

The tract was subdivided befor the discovery of oil in the Huntington Beach field made the title to the streets valuable for oil royalties. Appel and the lot buyers had previously threshed out their dispute—regarding royalty rights to the center of the street—in a Los Angeles court, where the lot buyers triumphed. Appel then moved to upset this victory by winning back title to the streets in the court here.

COUNTY'S STUDENTS IN ESSAY INTEREST

Interest among pupils of the grammar schools of Orange county in the offer of a local insurance company of cash prizes for the three best essays on fire prevention in the home and on the farm, was at high pitch, it was reported here.

The principals and teachers of the various schools in the county are said to be co-operating and a keen spirit of rivalry exists.

C. W. McNaught, manager of the insurance company that is offering the prizes, said today that a freckled-faced little boy, whom he picked up on a country lane in the west end of the county, assured him that he was going to win the prize because, as he put it, "Gee, gosh, mister, that's more money than I ever had in my life and teacher said any kid that wanted to could write an essay."

Length of the essays has been limited to 500 words. Prizes in the contest, which closes October 20, are $15, $10 and $5, McNaught reiterated. He added that the judges had not been selected.

SAYS DRIVERS GAIN BY MOTOR SCHOOLS

Santa Ana and Orange county motorists who wish to familiarize themselves with the provisions of the new automobile laws today were urged by Elmer Heidt, manager of the Santa Ana branch of the Automobile Club of Southern California, to attend the informative lectures to be given by District Attorney A. P. Nelson at the junior high school tonight and tomorrow night. The addresses are scheduled for 8 p. m.

"District Attorney Nelson," Deidt declared, "is making every effort to bring the automobile laws before the people in a manner that will be beneficial to all concerned. He will speak at the junior high school tonight and tomorrow night, and will then proceed to Huntington Beach, Anaheim, Orange and other Orange county cities. All those interested in the safety of motorists and pedestrians should attend these lectures."

Heidt said representatives of the automobile club will be present at these meetings and will give out copies of the California vehicle act.

Lawyer Wins Woman's Suit; She Sues on Fee

Mrs. Minnie F. Lindner of Huntington Beach appeared as plaintiff today in a superior court suit here against A. E. Koepsel, her former attorney, as the result of difficulties arising out of settlement of attorney fees. Koepsel recently represented Mrs. Lindner in divorce proceedings and arranged a property settlement whereby she secured a half interest in 100 acres of oil lands and an income said to be $450 per month from rayalties and rentals. Mrs. Lindner, represented by Attorneys Head, Rutan and Scovel, asks the court to set aside an alleged agreement conveying an interest in her income to the defendant. Mrs Lindner stated in her complaint that she had no money to defray expenses when she retained Koepsel, who took the case, it was indicated, on a "contingent fee" arrangement.

MESA FARM CENTER SCHOOL VIEW IS DUE

Members of the Costa Mesa farm center and others interested in its work were expected to air their views on the question of establishing an agricultural school in connection with the Southern branch of the state university, when the farm center meets at the Women's clubhouse there Friday night at 7:30 o'clock, A. E. Block, in charge of the program, indicated here today.

T. E. Stephenson, managing editor of The Register and member of a committee of fourteen named by the regional board of the Farm Bureau, which committee is trying to ascertain farm school sentiment in the Southland, is scheduled to bring the matter before the center.

A tillage expert of Los Angeles is programmed to tell the advantages of deep plowing and sub-soiling, while another matter to be discussed by poultrymen of the county is a co-operative feed-buying movement, now under way. W. W. Middleton, president of the farm center, was to preside.

OPENING OF OAK STREET HERE IS HAILED

Deeds for more than 99 per cent of the frontage necessary to open Oak street, from McFadden street on the south to First street on the north, have been signed by the property owners involved and are held in escrow by the Orange County Title company, for delivery to the city officials of Santa Ana when the remaining less than 1 per cent is deeded.

These property owners at the same time petitioned for the paving of the street. Sidewalks, curbing and utilities will be installed at once.

The development and growth of Santa Ana's southeast section has been retarded in the main because of lack of long north and south streets, it was pointed out. Beautiful walnut and orange groves are giving way to residence site.

Present and contemplated subdivisions lying on and adjacent to Oak street, insure the better class of homes as lot values, while low for sites of this character, will preclude cheap houses.

The opening and improvement of Oak street will be welcomed by the many persons who will soon be occupying the hundreds of homes which have been built on or adjacent to it this summer. The residents of the southeast section proclaim the opening of this street as the biggest single development in Santa Ana this year and predict that in another year all streets north of McFadden, between Halladay street, and Orange avenue, will be opened at least to First street, and possibly to Fourth street.

Mrs. Lloyd George is a stronger believer in prohibition and intends to make a careful study of the problems during her stay in America.

TRUCKEE, Oct. 11.—Much elation is felt here over the final decision of the California State Highway Commission to build its highway connection eastward from here through the Truckee river canyon instead of over the Dog Valley grade. The new route has wonderful scenic attractions and the fame of it is expected to become nation-wide.

Engineering work for the road has been completed and plans and specifications are now being prepared. Construction work is to start next spring. Easy grades are assured.

Good progress is being made by the contractors on the summit road west of Donner lake. To remove the huge rock bearers, immense blasts are being placed, a carload of explosives being used at one time in some instances.

GREATER BOOM AHEAD, AVERS SPURGEON

The Giants and the Yankees were not the only ones who did a little scoring yesterday. The city of Santa Ana clicked off a score peculiarly its own. Today, having passed its fifty-fourth birthday, the city was headed for even greater prosperity, according to W. H. Spurgeon jr., son of the founder of Santa Ana.

"Although my father had unbounded faith in the future of the city he helped establish, it is doubtful if he had any idea the city would show such substantial growth in the past few years," said the younger Spurgeon, commenting here today upon the development that has marked the city's progress.

"He knew, of course, that this was destined to become one of the most prosperous sections in California, and he lived to see many of his dreams fulfilled, but even the more optimistic have been amazed at the steady and continued growth of Santa Ana.

"As the birthdays come and go, I cannot fail to notice the passing of the landmarks. One by one they are disappearing. About the only landmark, or, at least, one of the few remaining, it the Spangler blacksmith shop, with its great, spreading pepper trees, which adjoins the fire department, on Sycamore, near Third street. This was built by my grandfather, Robert English, in 1869 or 1870.

"Probably the only celebration of Santa Ana's birthday that the average resident recalls is that of 1909. This was held on the eightieth birthday of W. H. Spurgeon, the fortieth birthday of Santa Ana, and the annual Parade of Products."

Spurgeon, always an unobstrusive, far-seeing friend of the people, was exceptionally modest. When presented with a hand-decorated parchment book in colors, as a token of remembrance and appreciation of his services in establishing Santa Ana, he broke down and was hardly able to respond to the demand for a speech. Although fortified with a steel-clad belief in the future of Santa Ana, the marked appreciation shown by the populace literally took his breath away.

CONTRACTOR HERE BUT MONTH BUSY

J. F. Harwood, a contractor and builder, who formerly lived at Sacramento, came to Santa Ana within the past month to make this city his future home. Harwood located here after looking over the entire Southland.

South Park Homesites is keeping Harwood busy. He already has two houses in this tract nearly completed. One is the $6,000 residence of C. M. Isaacson; the other is a $6,000 duplex belonging to B. C. Hall of Long Beach.

Harwood will shortly start work on two houses at the corner of Birch and St. Gertrude streets for Oren C. Dunn of Long Beach. These houses will cost about $13,000.

KEEPS LARGE FORCE BUSY WITH CEMENT

Alexander Rife, local cement contractor, is one of the men having a part in the actual development of South Main street. Rife is doing all cement work in the South Park Homsites tract and is keeping a large force of men busy on this large contract.

GIRL DENIES WOOING DESIRED IN COURT

The lady love in question, Senovia Paredes, 17, has thrown the matrimonial aspirations of her suitor to the four winds. She doesn't want to marry her persistent Sir Lancelot, nor do her parents hold her "incommunicado" from him, she testified in superior Judge R. Y. Williams' court.

"She does want to marry me," protested Armindares. "Her parents beat her last night and made her say she didn't.

With the allegations contained in the application of Armindares for a writ of habeas corpus, denied by the girl, Judge Williams dismissed the application.

ASKS $350 ON NOTE

TO OPEN TRACT TO SOUTH FOR INDUSTRIALS

A. B. Rouselle, who made his mark as a subdivider with the McFadden tract, on the south side, and Edgewood Park, on the north side, is preparing to subdivide a recent purchase of fifty-three acres in the South Main Street sector, just east of Andrew Cock's Chanticleer Manor property. This tract will be offered for industrial purposes, for which it is admirably suited because of its proximity to cheap fuel and oil.

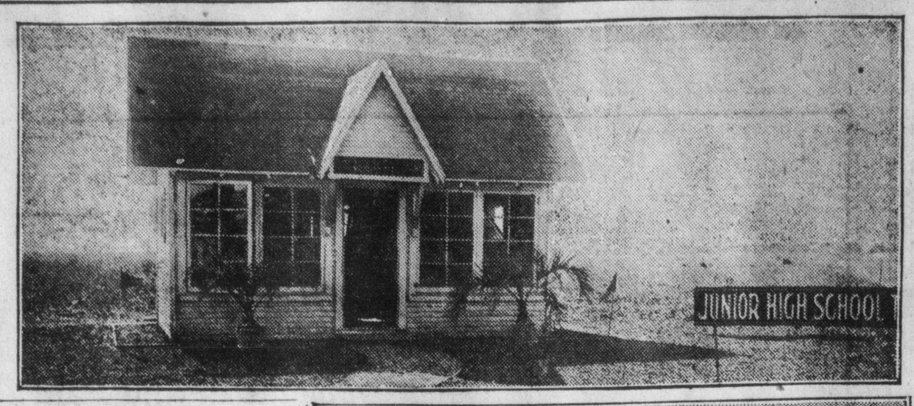

Rouselle believes that this property will be the means of attracting industries here which will add to Santa Ana's payroll, a most important factor in growth of any city.

"Santa Ana has built more than 300 homes on the south side during the past year," Rouselle pointed out. "These houses are being bought and occupied by outside people as their future homes. Among the newcomers are many people who have come to Santa Ana from Los Angeles and Long Beach, where they have sold out their interests in order to come here and enjoy the home advantages which our city offers.

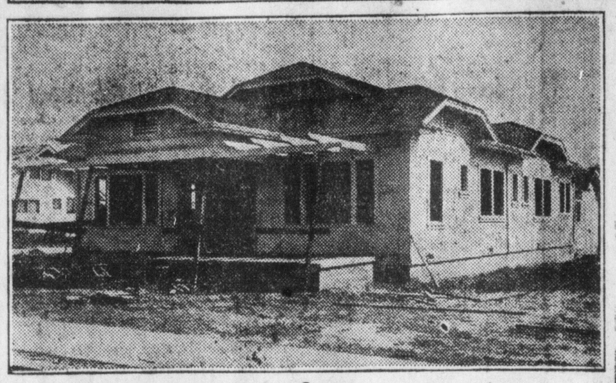

"Present low prices in force here are proving a strong magnet. Figuring three people to a family, one secures an idea of how South Main development is contributing to Santa Ana's growth. Now that we are attracting the people who want homes here, we must bend our energies to locate factories here. And it is along this line of endeavor that I am now centering my energies."

BANK BUILDING OFFICES ARE ALL RENTED

If the demand for offices were the measure, the First National Bank building, now going up at Fourth and Main streets, might be an eight-story building instead of six- story.

Harry L. Hanson, assistant cashier of the bank, who has charge of the rentals in the new building for the bank, said today that consideration was given the proposal of increasing the height of the building two stories, but the suggestion was rejected for the reason that any change in the plans at this time would delay the completion of the building for two or three months.

"The bank building is going up as originally planned," said Hanson. "Everything in the six stories is now taken. To be sure, there will be a few changes and adjustments, but to all intents and purposes everything is now signed up.

"The bank will occupy the basement with its safety deposit vaults. The main banking room is to be on the first floor, and the bookkeeping department is to go on the mezzanine floor. Most of the second floor is to be occupied by the bank's trust department organized a few months ago. This department is growing rapidly."

Tulare County Tract If Offered for Park

PORTERVILLE, Oct. 8.—A 160-acre tract of scenic mountain land located about thirty miles east of this city, has been offered by an unknown donor to the county for a park, Tulare county officials stated here. The tract contains one of the finest groves of redwoods in the state, including the Lady Alice tree, 310 feet high, declared to be the tallest and most perfect specimen of redwood tree in the world.

The unknown donor, county officials state, paid a power company $20,000 for the tract.

You Can't Figure This Out to Make You Less Profit Than

$100,000.00

I know it sounds immodest to talk about so much money, but that heading is a plain statement of a fact. It's a sub-division proposition, right in the heart of developments down South Main street way. I have not been able to figure it rotten enough to make less than $100,000, and I don't believe you can.

It's a 53-acre piece, much of it the finest kind of industrial property. It takes $10,000 to handle it. The balance, about $75,000, can be taken care of as lots are sold.

It isn't a question of putting your money away for a period of years. It's a quick-action proposition. I'd like to show you the property and figure it over with you.

Don't get the idea that it's a visionary idea of an over-enthusiastic real estate man. It's a perfectly practical business proposition that will work out just like I tell you it will.

If you've actually $10,000 to put into it and are ready to do business, you have solved the problem of making two dollars grow where only one grew before, and then some.

KILSON SQUARE POPULAR UNIT FROM START

H. R. Eyer and Charles E. Roberts organized the Guaranty Finance company last spring for the purpose of placing Kilson Square on the market as a homesite subdivision. The tract was opened last May. It was the rst piece of property on the South side east of the P. E. tracks to be subdivided. It was a forty-acre walnut grove belonging to George E. Kilson.

Eyer reports nearly fifty houses completed, all improvements in and paid for and that the streets will be completed and thrown open for public use either tomorrow or Saturday.

Eyer and Roberts, at the start, divided their work. Eyer took over the sales end and Roberts took charge of the improvement work. Both have been successful in their respective departments and the Kilson Square of today stands out as a positive development for the South side. It is located just a few blocks east of Main street at Cubbon.

NEW RICHLAND AVE. EDIFICE CONSIDERED

Plans are under consideration by a building committee of the Richland Avenue Methodist church to raise funds for erection of a new church, it was announced today by the Rev. H. S. Burgess, pastor. The building committee met recently to consider plans submitted by the architect and to talk over the question of raising the funds with which to build.

"Growth of the congregation has brought us to the point of building," declared the pastor. "Last Sunday 264 were present in our church school. Having room only for 150, our crowded condition makes it imperative that we take immediate steps towards the erection of our new building."

Only 'Pot' of Social Card Game Robbers; Take Guests' Purses

While a social game of cards was progressing in the front room, a sneak thief loosened a window screen, reached in and stole the company's pocket books and lose change, according to police report today.

Mr. and Mrs. F. P. McCormick, Miss Gladys McClellan, and James Nichols were the sociable four gathered over the card table at 211 East Pine street. The sneak thief has not been identified.

Shortly after midnight the game broke up. The women went to get their wraps, only to find their pocket books missing. A loose window screen told the story, the police said.

FOUR-FIFTHS IS SOLD IN SOUTH MAIN TRACT

Andrew Cock, owner of Chanticleer Manor, has made a splendid record with his tract which was placed upon the market a year ago last July. This property consisted of 53 acres and was platted into 203 lots.

At the present time, eighty per cent has been sold and the tract boasts forty-five substantial homes, averaging in cost $3,000 each.

In speaking of the growth of Santa Ana, Cock said "Twenty-two years ago my father was offered a lot at the corner of First and Main for $1,000. He thought that the property was too far out and pasesd it up. This same piece of property has increased $1500 in value each year for the past twenty-two years.

"I feel that this will be repeated on every fot of South Main street property. And it is well to consider that there are but three parcels of land suitable for subdivisions which can be bought now between Santa Ana and Newport. The balance of this land is being held by larke property owners.

"Six months before I subdivided Chanticleer Manor, I made a statement which was published in The Register at that time to the effect that Santa Ana would have a population of 50,000 by 1930. People laughed at my enthusiasm. Today they are talking the same way themselves and agree that I was correct."

SOIL BREAKING FOR FACTORY SOON, SEEN

A deed of more than usual interest to Santa Ana people has been recorded in the Orange county courthouse showing the ownership of a ten-acre factory site vested in Robert Spencer, trustee and president for the Los Angeles Textile company.

The future home of this new industry is five miles south of Santa Ana, on the Newport boulevard, according to the legal papers. Engineers, who were on the grounds this week working out a tentative survey for railroad switches, said that it was their understanding that construction work would begin as quickly as possible, probably in thirty days.

The architect's drawing shows a ten-unit textile plant.

Robert Spencer is quoted as saying that negotiations for the equipment of the big plant are going ahead satisfactorily. The first two or three units, he said, will be devoted to the manufacture of silk and synthetic silk hosiery.

"We already have a market for our finished product," Spencer added. "Our problem lies in getting the plant in operation at the earliest possible date. Textile machinery is just as hard to get delivered as any other sort of machinery, but we hope to have our knitting machines on hand when the building is ready to receive them."

Then ten-acre site of the Los Angeles company was bought, according to A. V. Napier, wko promoted the sale, from Charles Ward, trustee, who acted in the behalf of a syndicate of local men, including L. A. West, Ashby Turner, Adam Zaiser, Henry Pankey, O. L. Bolton, I. Livenspire, John Knox, Henry Walters and others.

READY NOW TO GO AHEAD WITH CEMENT WORK

The Long Beach Sales company, subdividers of Edinger Square, has completed the street work in its tract and will now go ahead with the cement work, the contract for which has just been let.

Water has been available on the tract for some time.

Edinger Square has attracted a great deal of attention in Santa Ana because of the unusual terms offered—$3 down and $3 per week.

Harry Riggle, president of the company handling the property, reports that over one-half of the tract has already been sold. Lots in Edinger Square are selling from $425 upwards.

ing system, to extend as far south as Delhi road, and paving of the street full width to that point, are improvements that are being discussed by property owners on Main street, south of the present city limits. It is his opinion that these substantial improvements will be made within the year.

Pointing out that he is now preparing to open an industrial subdivision along the Pacific Electric tracks to Huntington Beach and directly east of Chanticleer Manor, and expressing the belief that future development in the immediate vicinity of Santa Ana will be in the Delhi district, Rousselle said that establishment of a new business community on South Main street is as certain, as it is certain, in his opinion, that subdividing has not been overdone in Santa Ana.

"There are many causes that will contribute to the building up of a business community on South Main street," said the well known subdivider.

Cities Move To Beaches

"The history of cities in Southern California located near the ocean has been that expansion has been in the direction of the beaches. Orange county is ging to have a real harbor at Newport Beach in a shorter time than many persons now believe possible. Future development of the harbor, with location of industrials, will increase interest in South Main street.

"Building of new homes and increased numbers of families on the new subdivisions will create a demand for prompt service that is certain to result in the location of business establishments on the street. Again there is heavy traffic on the street, and transients offer opportunity to business houses to develop a trade that will justify operation."

Incidentally, J. H. Timmons has seen the "handwriting on the wall" and is the first real estate broker to establish an office on the street in the center of real estate activity. He is operating under the name of the South Main street Reaity company, and his slogan is "Everything South." Timmons said that in the past few weeks there has been good activity in resale of lots to purchasers who are buying for the purpose of building homes.

and adding to their desirability. Charles M. Winter is contemplating two houses on his lots at Normandy Place and Oak street. On Orange avenue, just south of Normandy, Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Medbery of South Main street, are building a very fancy duplex for investment.

Other New Homes.

On Orange avenue just north of Harwood Place, Capps and McGee are finishing a striking granitized home, of extraordinary interior, that occupies a place of its own in Santa Ana homes. Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Clapp are planning for Harwood Place and Orange avenue a Moresco home of unusual design. The Chamberlain place of Pueblo type on Harwood Place "does its bit" toward the beauty of this locality.

Mr. Stokes of the Flower Shop is planning his Harwood Place home for the near future. Just off Orange avenue, on Harwood Place, Mrs. R. Ramsey is building a dandy Kellastone home of five rooms. The Ellis house on Orange avenue and Harwood Place is attracting much attention, as is the spacious home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barnett on Wistaria Place, near Orange avenue.

On Harwood Place is the unique home of the Misses Olive and Jeanette Wherry, of Spanish type, with many features. This home is to be one of the show places of Santa Ana.

The slogan of the promoters of Harwood Place, "Every home a stucco if it takes us a thousand years," means that Harwood Place is to be one of Santa Ana's beautiful home sites.

Many New Homes.

In proof of this, he pointed to the investment by C. Sharon of Long Beach of $15,000 in a store and apartment building on the tract, located on the northwest corner of Main street and Gertrude street, the latter being a new east and west street along the south side of South Park Homesites. The tract extends from Main street west to Flower street.

B. C. Hull of Long Beach has under construction on South Van Ness street, a four-room duplex that will cost approximately $7,500, Isaacson says.

Charles Isaacson of Los Angeles, a brother of the sales manager and son of the owner, is building a five-room residence on South Birch street, to cost $6,000.

Orin C. Dunn, Isaacson said, is ready to build two houses at the corner of Birch and Gertrude streets as soon as the paving on these streets is finished. The houses will cost $5,000 each and will be erected on adjoining lots.

'Missing Link' In Expansion Opened

vestment company, composed of Santa Ana and Los Angeles men, and headed by French and Brown, plans to expend $300,0000 in the development of this tract, by putting in sidewalks, curbs, sewers, electricity, and paved streets, according to French and Brown, who added the work will start immediately.

Few people, they say, understand the extensive development that has been going on in the southern part of Santa Ana during the past two years, especially in that part which is tributary to South Main street. When the McFadden tract was opened in 1921, McFadden street seemed to be about as far south as the city would expand for a number of years. But now residences have sprung up all the way to the beach. Besides the numerous homes that have been built, a number of stores have been erected to provide the many newcomers with supplies.

Father, Baby Saved From Death by Gas

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. —Vincente Zepente, 30, 2235 Sutter, put his 18-month-old baby on the bed, closed the doors and windows of his home and turned on the gas and lay down by the baby to die. Neighbors called the police, who found both unconscious. They were revived at the emergency hospital. Jealousy of his wife, who is ill in a hospital, was the cause assigned by Zepente.

MYSTERY OPERATION CASE YET CLOUDED

Unable to secure tangible information from the suspect, Los Angeles county officers today released Joseph Watt, 21, arested on a suspicion of felony charge in connection with the mutilation of his room-mate, Carter B. Kenney, 26, oil worker, whose estranged wife resides at Anaheim.

Althought declaring he is not satisfied with the solution of the mystery so far advanced, Harry Wright, chief criminal deputy sheriff of Los Angeles county, declared he was convinced Watt was telling the truth when he asserted he knew nothing of the midnight "operation," which maimed Kenney.

Kenney, according to officers, admitted a number of love affairs, but stoutly maintained he did not know anyone who would attempt to chloroform and mutilate him while he slept at his Huntington Park home. Deputies today were investigating certain phases of the case involving women of Whittier, Bell Station and Huntington Park.

LIMOUSINE HEARSE, MODERN TYPE, IS HERE

New limousine hearse, received by Smith and Tuthill, Santa Ana undertakers, is one of the first of its type delivered on the Pacific Coast. Its style is both simple and dignified.

FUNERAL CAR HAS DIGNITY, BEAUTY

A new limousine funeral car of the most modern and finest type, has been received by Smith and Tuthill, undertakers, at Sixth and Broadway. This car is one of the first of its type to be delivered on the Pacific coast.

This funeral car was designed to meet the most modern thought and conceptions in relation to funeral rites. Just as dignity and simplicity marks the funerals of today, just so does this limousine type funeral car fit into the idea of dignity and simplicity.

The car is simple both in design and arrangement. An innovation is its side doors which follow out the lines of a limousine.

While distinctive and dignified, the car is beautiful in lines and appointments. It is finished in dark blue and black with nickel trim.

The entire interior is upholstered in blue leather to the floor line to carry out the limousine effect. The floor is finished in genuine mahogany.

All the doors in the hearse compartment are fitted with spring roller curtains—the stationary side glass is also fitted with roller curtains and in addition this side glass is fitted with draped silk curtains.

To add an extra touch of refinement two cut-glass flower vases are provided. The lighting arrangement is also pleasing. Four corner lights are placed near the ceiling and a light on the right side near the floor.

The arrangement of the driver's compartment is in keeping with the general design of the car, large and roomy, the instrument board is of solid mahogany and deep yielding cushions in the driver's seat upholstered in genuine leather.

Authorities to Sift Suitcase Baby Case

MISSOULA, Mont., Oct. —A few minutes after the dead infant of Mrs. Joe Smith had been taken to the morgue and the mother to a hospital from a local rooming house, another infant, alive and husky, was discovered in a suitcase in a closet adjoining Mrs. Smith's room by the coroner, who will hold an inquest to determine the cause of death of the dead infant. Officers are investigating to determine the parentage of the live baby and how it came to be placed in the suitcase. Mrs. Smith they said, was alone in the room for some time.

Fire Stricken Napa Farmers Face Problem

NAPA, Oct. —The farmers of the Mount Veeder, Dry creek and Nun's canyon districts of Napa county are in dire distress as a result of the disastrous fires that recently swept over that section. Every farmer in the path off the fire suffered. Some lost everything they possessed, others their barns, feed for stock, farming implements, and nearly every one the whole year's crop of fruit, as the harvest season is just nearing its end. Even the timber that helped to add to their income is ruined. The most of these once prosperous farmers are facing the winter without any prospects whatever.

C. OF C. TRACT IS SOLD FOR SUBDIVISION

Sale of the old fair grounds tract of 31 1-2 acres, owned by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, to E. E. Boyle of Los Angeles and James Dobbs of Costa Mesa for subdivision into home sites, was announced here today by J. C. Metzgar, secretary. The consideration was said to involve approximately $50,000.

According to the new owners, work will begin at an early date in order to prepare the acreage for sale as residence lots. They pointed out that this tract was favored by the Chamber of Commerce as a site for a city park and had offered it as such for sale to the city council. They added that this favorable attitude by the Chamber of Commerce board of directors, as regarded a city park, augured well for the tract's popularity as a home center.

Sale of the property, which is situated on Bristol street at Fairview, was made through Crawford & Harris Bros of Santa Ana.

Boyle, who is president of the California Industrial bank of Los Angeles, and Dobbs, well-known realtor of Costa Mesa, are prominent among subdividers of the county, they having recently completed the sale of a large acreage at Costa Mesa.

Boy Gives Ma's Gems To Legless Beggar

PORTLAND, Oct. —Elvin Young, 9, felt sorry for a legless man, who, for several weeks, has sold pencils on the sidewalk here.

Day by day, as he saw him there he wondered what he could do for him. Then the master idea struck him. Mother had a diamond ring on her dresser.

YES, YOU CAN'T USE PHONE TO BEACH MAYBE

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 11. —Telephone service in this city will be interrupted on Saturday and Sunday, October 20 and 21, it was expected here by Manager E. H. Cookingham.

Following the announcement he explained that better service would be available on long distance calls from this city as four new toll lines are to be installed soon after they have moved into their new quarters. There are now fifteen toll lines running out of the town.

The new building, situated on the corner of Main street and Acacia street, is strictly modern in every respect. Operating rooms are downstairs with the offices of the manager and other officials of the company, while the upper floor of the building has been made into two apartments for the home of the operators.

Mr. Cookingham is the new manager recently selected to fill the place left vacant by the resignation of Ben Snowden. Several other changes have been made in the personnel of the local telephone exchange. Five new girls have been secured to fill the positions of those who resigned recently. Miss Mary Lantry has been appointed to the position of assistant secretary and treasurer of the company. Mrs. Lela Mullins succeeds Mrs. Lena P. March as chief operator.

The new building of the company cost about $15,000, it is claimed. Soon after the company is moved into the new quarters it is the plan to change for the old form of the magneto system to the common battery form.

Three hundred and forty-five women are serving in every elective office in town government in Connecticut, according to a bulletin just issued by the Connecticut League of Women Voters.

A Great City is rising from oranges, oil and climate

SANTA ANA

Orange County, California

$4,259,845 in New Buildings So Far This Year

The total for the same period last year was $2,680,021. This year's figures include 601 single homes, apartment buildings which add 137 apartments, 76 business buildings, 6 schools and additions, 1 bank, 1 Y. M. C. A., 1 theater, etc. The figures for the nine months of this year are over a million dollars more than for the ENTIRE YEAR OF 1922.

Santa Ana is reaching new building records every month, which simply means that more people are "discovering" the opportunities here—recognizing that great future—and casting their lot with Santa Ana while the city is still young.

Santa Ana! An epitome of Southern California. The most perfect flowering of a civilization that satisfies, a prosperity almost Aladdin-like—a future greater than was ever dreamed of in any age!

But there is nothing visionary or ephemeral about Santa Ana's PRESENT GROWTH. Its starting point is the $15,000,000.00 annual orange crop of Orange County, the $53,000,000.00 production of oil, and other products of soil bringing the total up to over $100,000,000.00 annually.

With this definite and substantial wealth back of Santa Ana's growth, the fact that the figures for new buildings for the first nine months of 1923 are MORE THAN THE ENTIRE YEAR OF 1922, is understandable.

Come to Santa Ana and let the crops tell the story of the fertility of these deep sedimentary lands. Results are the best test. You can check up on the actualities here. Ask about soil wealth, about economy of production, about transportation advantages, the coming sea contact with the world at Orange County Harbor.

CLIMATE ISN'T EVERYTHING IN SANTA ANA!—but it gives that final touch to perfect existence. Ten miles from the ocean, ten miles from snow-capped mountains—an average maximum temperature in January, 1923, of 68 deg., average minimum of 41 deg.—average maximum in June, 1923, of 76 deg., average minimum of 52 deg.

Santa Ana is a land of opportunity! An almost undeveloped country, crying out for merchants undeveloped country, crying out for capital and ability, factories and workers and farmers, especially farmers; a place in which to work and make a living to get ahead, bring up a family and make a stake.

A great city is rising 34 miles from Los Angeles—emerging naturally by the lifting power of wealth and happiness. Will YOU be one more to grow with Santa Ana?

YANKEES LOSE GAME THEY SHOULD HAVE TAKEN FROM GIANTS AT LEAST 6 TIMES

American League Champions Outplayed, Out-Thought As They Were In 1920, 1921; Stengel's Homer Is Big Factor But Kelly's Fielding Saves Defeat

BY HENRY L. FARRELL,
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Off on the wrong foot again, the New York Yankees were facing the prospect of having some unpleasant bits of 1921 and 1922 history repeat themselves as they prepared for the second game of the world's series today with the Giants.

Down one on the National League champions, outplayed and outthought in a game they should have won at least six times, the plight of the Yankees was painful.

After yesterday's exhibition of how they can't play ball, the Yankees must have felt this morning like the weather—cloudy, murky, gloomy and sour.

Wetted down by a night of intermittent rainfall, the field at the Polo Grounds, where the battle is to be resumed today, was ready to give the athletes and the fans another day to think over one of the greatest games ever played which opened the series.

Playing Field O. K.

Commissioner Landis said this morning that he had received a report that the field was in good condition and that the teams would play this afternoon if the threatened rain held off.

One wise-crack was made after the game that no team in the world could have lost a game like the opening conflict but the Yankees. No other major league this morning of first division class could have acted so mentally sluggish and so mechanically uncertain.

Ruth tripled in the fifth with one out; Schang doubled in the sixth with two out; Dugan tripled in the seventh with one out and Pipp singled in the eighth with one out—and the Yanks did not score.

Stupid base running by Witt and Pipp and the over-daring of Babe Ruth in trying, as Ruth always tries, to win, cost the Yanks the game.

Jimmy O'Connell, the $75,000 California beauty, remarked quietly after the game:

"The best way to beat the Yankees is to let them get on base, because they don't know what to do when they get there."

Mental Alertness Won

The mental alertness and the mechanical perfection of the Giants stopped every chance the Yankees had to win the game. Stengel's home run in the ninth inning was the decisive punch that caused the Yanks to take the count, but it was George Kelly's miraculous stop of Ruth's sure double in the seventh and his phenomenal throw to the plate, cutting off Dugan, that stopped a winning rally by the Yanks.

No play in any series or any game could compare with the brilliance, quick thinking and spontaneous action provided by Kelly—not even the sensational Rawlings, Kelly and Groh double play that made the last out in the 1921 series.

The Giants all figure that they are "in" now.

"That victory will be worth more than if we had beaten them 15 to 0," one of the Giant players said today. "If they had gone down in a one-sided game they would have thought that fine pitching stopped them, that they had all the bad breaks or that they were in a slump. But they out-hit us and we out-thought them and they know they should have won the game. The Yanks can't think. They know it, and they know that they can't learn to think in a few days."

Fear Herb Pennock

The Giant players feel that they would take the series in straight games if they had Herb Pennock out of the way in the opener. The champions do not attempt to deny that they regard the left handed former Boston pitcher very seriously.

Pennock, no doubt, will pitch today for the Yankees and it is almost certain that Art Nehf, the Giant south-paw will oppose him. Nehf was ready to go yesterday and he was peeved that he wasn't selected.

With Pennock in the box for the Yanks, the Giants will make a switch in the outfield, where Bill Cunningham will replace Casey Stengel. The other positions on the defense will be manned by the same agile, quick-thinking athletes.

All the Yankee regulars bat against left handed and right handed pitching and they all think the same way against all kinds of pitching. As long as the Yanks refuse to exercise their mental apparatus, the alleged weakness of the Giant pitching staff will be no factor in the series.

"Let Them Get On"

The Giant players probably will tell their pitchers—"let 'em get on base and we'll take care of 'em for you."

For spectacular playing yesterday, Stengel and Kelly held the lime-light, but Frank Frisch, that brilliant Fordham star, has as much to do with the victory as anyone. He made two sensational plays that cut off runs and he was all over the field.

The official paid attendance was 55,307, which made a new series record, and the actual attendance probably was 58,000. The receipts, which also established a new record, were $181,912 which was divided as follows: Advisory council $27,286.80; each club's share $30,925.05; player's share, $92,755.12.

SPORTS OF ALL SORTS

In view of this and because of many other habits of trainers and race followers in England that must be regarded as eccentric in the United States, it might be interesting to tell the American race fans a few things about the British turf as it is regulated and regarded here.

Although claiming to be the world's greatest turf fan, the Englishman has been supremely indifferent to horse racing in other countries. A few big French races, such as the French Derby, the Grand Steeplechase De Paris, the Grand Auteil Hurdle and the Prix de Conseil Municipal were followed with interest, chiefly because there were usually some English competitors, but, apart from these, continental racing was ignored by press and public.

Perhaps two big races in Australia, and the Viceroy's Cup in India completed the average British turfman's knowledge of the world's big turf events. Such events as the Kentucky Derby, the Futurity Stakes, or the Preakness Stakes hardly ever earned mention in the sporting press and, in fact, Britishers generally relegated American racing to an inferior status.

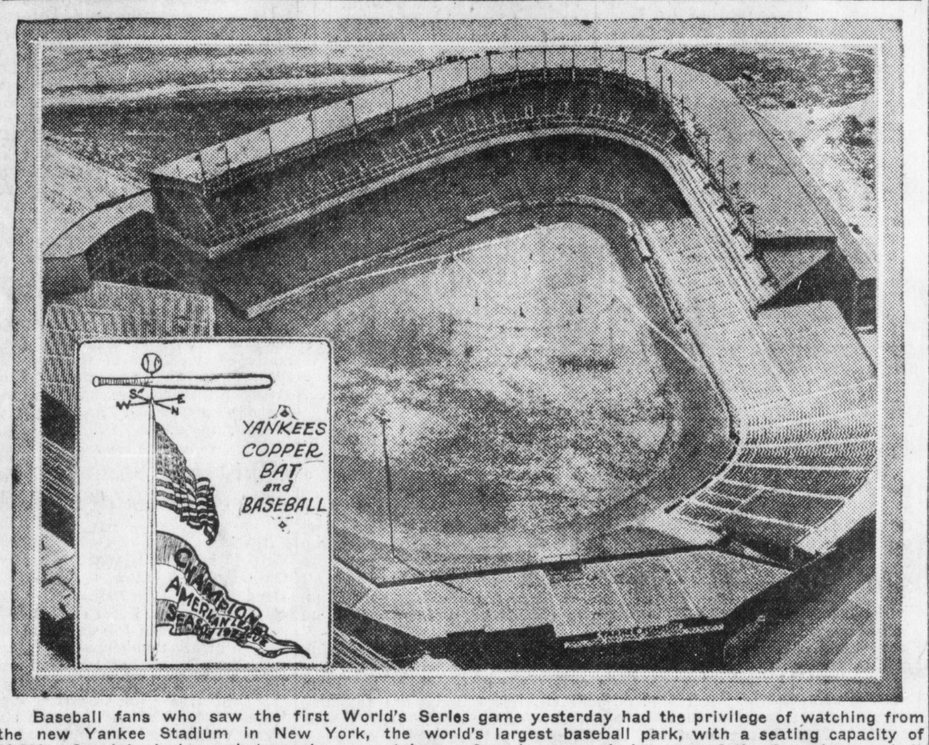

* * * * *

The "glorious uncertainty" of the British turf owes its popularity to the variegated nature of the race tracks in this country. There are scarcely two alike and they are laid down over natural country, without the slightest attempt to alter or improve the landscape, hence the "human element" of the horse enters into every race on every track. The horse that is "nippy" rounding turns may shine at Chester with its oval, soup-plate-like track, but fail lamentably up the severe gradient at Ascot, or on the gruelling Cesarewitch course at Newmarket. The solid plugger on dead-galloping tracks will be sprawling all over the place down the hill at Epsom or Brighton, or hopelessly outpaced on the sharp Manchester track.

To tell the British turf enthusiasts that Papyrus won the Derby in 2 minutes and 38 seconds conveys nothing to him. He wants to know how much he won by (in lengths) and whether the course was dry or wet, also what horses were behind him and what their earlier performances were. Record time in the Derby attracts little more than passing interest and is very little criterion, as courses are frequently being altered to meet modern or local condition.

Mrs. B. A. Moorer, one of the first women members of the board of aldermen in Charleston, S. C., never attended a political meeting till the recent campaign which led to her nomination and election.

WHERE YANKS, GIANTS CLASH

Baseball fans who saw the first World's Series game yesterday had the privilege of watching from the new Yankee Stadium in New York, the world's largest baseball park, with a seating capacity of 80,000. Special airplane photographs were taken a few days ago during one of the few clear periods preceding the great 1923 battle of the diamond and give a unique view of the colossal enclosure. The soft color of the 15 ton copper cornice along the top of the grand stand was dimly visible in the shadow and the unusual flag pole in the foreground was shown bearing the American flag with the Yankee pennant beneath, and the words "Champions, American League, Season 1922." This flag pole bears on its topmost point a great copper baseball and just beneath is a tremendous copper baseball bat 8 feet in length, gilded, a fitting insignia of a park which is the home grounds of Babe Ruth, as well as being useful as a weather vane.

EXPECT BIG CROWD TO SEE COLIMA BOX

Coast Middleweight King To Appear at Oil City Tomorrow Night

When Bert Colima, king of all Pacific Coast middleweights, crawls through the ropes down at Kid Mexico's Huntington Beach arena tomorrow night for his main event with Sailor Larry, San Diego colored boy, it will be the first time the Whittier Mexican has boxed in Orange county in more than two years.

Colima's last appearance in these parts was at Boyd Ellis' Delhi arena when he barely outpointed Ray Neal, Santa Ana boy. Shortly after that Colima packed his duds and went East where he was going good until he ran into the stiff hand of Jack Delaney, St. Paul boxer.

Knocked out in the eighth round, Colima returned to California and proceeded to trounce opponent after opponent until he was undisputed middie king of the coast. Two months ago Jimmy O'Hagen captured Colima's title after a rather tame bout at Vernon. O'Hagen lost the crown to Henry Melcar and Colima then easily mastered Melcar and regained his championship.

Sailor Larry's chief claim to fame is in one very good showing he made against Colima at Vernon about a year ago, when he got an upsticks verdict with the Whittier flash.

Colima's appearance is enough to warrant Mexico in enlarging his arena for the middleweight star packs them in wherever he goes. A classy list of preliminary bouts, however, has been arranged. These follow:

Ted Frenchie vs. Harry Lee, 165 pounds.

Johnny Weber vs. George Sherman, 135 pounds.

Kid Walker vs. Johnny Nandez, 128 pounds.

Kid Moore vs. Benny Young, 145 pounds.

K. O. Montoya vs. Eddie Cleary, 122 pounds.

Benny Hill vs. Billy Blake, 110 pounds.

WOULD OPEN UP STREET.

ORANGE, Oct. 11.—The board of trustees at their regular meeting Tuesday afternoon received a petition from property owners in the vicinity of Almond avenue and West Chapman street which requested the board to open Citrus street from Wast Chapman street to Almond avenue. The petition was presented to the board by T. W. Condon.

Sir Walter Scott's mother was a woman of marked individuality and talents, while his father has been described as rather dull.

Huge Throng Sees Register's Board Play Series Game

A huge throng, estimated at approximately 1000 persons, yesterday braved a hot sun to watch the New York Yankees and Giants fight it out on The Register's electric scoreboard.

The fans cheered at good plays, as reproduced on the scoreboard, just as they would have applauded had they been sitting in the grandstand at the Yankee stadium.

The Register's scoreboard will continue to give baseball enthusiasts play-by-play returns from each and every game of the series. The games begin in Santa Ana, at 11 a. m.

SIGN ADAMS, AVERY TO TOP ORANA CARD

Johnny Adams, popular and clever little San Bernardino junior lightweight, will meet Joe Avery, midget San Diego boxer, in the main event at the Orana arena next Tuesday night, Matchmaker C. I. McCoy announced today.

Adams, a two-fisted boxer and one who forces the going from beginning to end, will find Avery plenty tough. Although somewhat handicapped in height, the San Diego youngster holds decisions over Danny Edwards, the sensational California colored boy now boxing in New York, and California Joe Lynch. He stopped Frankie Farren in two rounds and drew with Georgie Marks, George Lee, Bennie Vieira, Babe Herman and Johnny Dundee.

For the balance of the card, McCoy has lined up Hank Gatten and Red Briggs as his semi-windup; Barney Tooley and Battling Nick for the feature event, and Smiling Parker vs. Tony Ross; Kid Walker vs. Babe Orton, and Eddie Doolis vs. Tommy Aguirre.

ISSUE WARRANTS TO GUN CLUB MEN

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Oct. 11.—Warrants for the arrest of Stealy A. Carson and Hanley W. Lash were issued yesterday by Judge Warner to officials of the Lomita Gun Club for alleged poaching on the gun club reserve.

A warrant charging Lash with assault was also sworn out by the deputy of the club, who declared that when he asked to see Lash's hunting license Lash became angry and struck him in the face.

Milk is said to be replacing coffee as the mid-morning drink of business men in London.

POLY ELEVEN FACES POMONA FROSH NEXT

Covington's Charges Have Difficulty In Pounding Junior College Line

Santa Ana gets its first opportunity Saturday afternoon to see Ed Covington's Poly football eleven, now rounding into form, in action against a foe which should be as good but probably not much better than the local aggregation.

The Poly mentor will send his cohorts into battle here at that time against the Pomona College freshmen team, a squad of which little is known.

Santa Ana showed a splendid defense against the U. S. C. freshmen at Los Angeles last Saturday and offered a driving offense against Huntington Beach in scrimmage here Tuesday night. Last night, however, Covington's charges had great difficulty in penetrating the defense of Coach Ed Hummel's Junior college henchmen.

It was dusk before "Barney" Le Bard, Poly halfback, snared a long forward pass from Bill Luck and skidded across the goal line with a trio of college players riding on his shoulders.

"Greeky" Williams, Covington's backfield ace, was not in the melee and it is doubtful if he will see much action before Saturday. Williams is bothered with an injury he received in 1921 and the local coaching staff don't want to take a chance of losing him now that the Tri-county league games are only two weeks away.

'Chappie" Townsend, the great little lineman, received a bump over his eye last night that may put him on the shelf for the rest of the week. He is expected to be in shape to start against the Pomona first-year team, however.

RUTH, MC GRAW FEUD WORLD SERIES CRUX

Giants Win Opener Because Manager's Brain Greater Than Bambino's Bat

BY PAUL R. MALLON,
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Humped down in a dugout at the Polo Grounds sits John McGraw, manager of the Giants, conjurer, baseball magician and master mind.

From his nimble fingers stretch invisible wires and with them he dangles nine mannequins upon the field.

At the plate stands George Herman Ruth, the mighty Babe. In his fists he carries a cave-man club. With it he pokes at the invisible wires of John McGraw, slashes and batters at them. With speedy legs he races around the bases, races against the invisible waves of the conjurer.

Thus is the world series of 1923 between the Yankees and Giants a tete-a-tete between John McGraw, the master mind, and Babe Ruth, the master ball player, an age-old battle of brain against brawn, a psychological feud.

Brain Bests Brawn

The Giants won the first game of the series because the brain of McGraw was greater than the bat of Ruth. It was Casey Stengel who pounded out the winning run for the Nationals, but it was John McGraw who made it possible.

McGraw uses the simplest signals in the world. With them he directs practically every ball that is pitched to the Yankee batters. With them he tells his batter when to hit and when not to.

The conjurer works upon simple principles. He believes that the judgment of a man on the bench, out of the thrill of the contest, is better than the man working under the excitement of an actual play. He believes that he can outguess the Yankee batter from the bench better than anyone could from the outfield.

McGraw gives his signals with his hands and the position of his body. They are relayed when the team is in the field by Snyder or Gowdy, his catchers.

Watson Learns Lesson

Watson was taken out of the box yesterday because he refused to obey these signals, it is learned. Watson thought he knew what was best to do. McGraw let him get by with it for two innings and then jerked him. The Yankees had hit Watson for three runs.

"You can sit there for a while and watch how this team is run," McGraw sarcastically remarked when Watson came in from the mound.

The Yankee attack and defense is centered around Babe Ruth. No matter how man stars or near stars are on the team, it wins only when Ruth is good and loses only when he is bad.

Ruth is in top condition this year and McGraw's brain is as alert as it ever was.

The feud is on and one of them will win the baseball championship of the world.

I First Compounded This Newer Form of Iron For My Own Neighbors

Their Praise of This Remarkable Remedy Has Spread So Rapidly That Now Over 4,000,000 People Use It Annually

Years ago I began to wonder at the great number of my own friends and neighbors whowere always ailing, complaining and doctoring, without ever seeming to get any better. Both working men and their wives were frequently all tired out in the evening, and a great many were weak, nervous and run-down. One had pains in the back and thought he had kidney trouble. Another had pains around heart, palpitations and dizziness, and was sure he was suffering from heart disease. Still others had severe headaches, floating spots before the eyes, tender spots along the spine and a great variety of alarming symptoms.

For years I made a special study of this condition, consulting a great number of physicians and chemists. An immense number of investigations by physicians all over the country showed that three people out of every four you meet lack 100% iron in their blood. Lack of iron in the blood is the greatest of all devitalizing weaknesses. It is the iron in your blood that enables you to get the nourishment out of your food. Without iron, nothing you eat does you any good. Your heart, lungs and kidneys and all your vital organs get their nourishment from the blood stream, and when the blood lacks iron and is thin, pale and watery, you may suffer from the symptoms of a great number of diseases when the real and true cause of all your trouble is a lack of iron in the blood.

In the old days people often took metallic iron, which some physicians claim is not absorbed at all. In compounding this newer form of iron which I call Nuxated Iron, I employed a special form of iron, which is like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples. Unlike the older forms of iron, it will not injure the teeth nor disturb the stomach, and it is ready for almost immediate absorption and assimilation by the blood. It is the people whose blood is rich in iron who possess great strength, force and energy. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test:

See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two 5-grain tablets of Nuxated Iron three times a day after meals for two weeks, then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. An astonishing number of nervous, run-down people who were ailing all the while, have greatly improved their health and increased their strength, energy and endurance simply by taking this newer form of iron. Loring Ranger offers a hundred thousand dollars reward for the return of his missing daughter, Hope. He is assisted in his search by his attorney, Eustice Higby, and by his life-long friend, Juarez Charlie, adventurer.

Charlie tells Loring that he feels certain that hope is held prisoner by a group of criminals called the "Combine." A message comes to Ranger telling him to buy a hat for Hope and leave it at a specified place. Frank Bryan is Ranger's private secretary.

George Kelsey is detained at a private sanitarium and he meets and visits with a girl who closely resembles a nurse named Copley. Dr. Bristow is the superintendent of the institution.

A RESPONSIVE shiver passed over her shoulders.

"There was no use acting as if I hadn't taken it all in," Kelsey resumed; "and I didn't hesitate to express myself. I was leaving at once, I told him; didn't care to be hooked up with a bunch of crooks. Bristow didn't bluster any; just smiled in that maddening, superior way of his and when I finished, condescended to explain. He had been humoring a lunatic, he said; my experience should have taught me the necessity of sometimes doing that. The story of the stolen jewels was pure dementia, but interesting as an example of unusual coherence.

"He made the thing plausible enough, but it didn't sink in as he expected. I'd heard the two of them talk. There wasn't any make-believe about it; they were right down to business. Actual names and addresses were given and written down. And the alleged patient was allowed to depart, free.

"So I stood my ground, and bluntly told him that I didn't consider the circumstances open to misinterpretation.

"Bristow began tapping on the arm of his chair, but he was as cool as ever. 'It looks as if your usefulness here is over,' he agreed. 'I regret it. You would have been a valuable man.'"

"Speak a little lower," she cautioned.

"Thanks; I forgot for the moment. Well' I left him then, and went up to my room. I've told you how I attempted to get away and failed. After that, I tried to get to Bristow aagin, but he wouldn't see me. So I turned to Morton."

"Morton?" she repeated interrogatively.

"Yes; the other house physician. He's a quiet, non-committal sort of a fellow. I didn't go into the whole thing with him; just told him I'd had a falling out with Bristow and resigned, but that when I attempted to leave the place, I'd been prevented.

"He didn't show any surprise. He'd been primed. Just listened, and said now and then, I'm sorry,' or 'Too bad.' I didn't get his attitude at the time. My idea then was that he was too keen on his job to take sides. But I gained a clearer light on him when I finally talked to Bristow.

"He was all ready for me, and didn't waste any time in laying his cards on the table.

"'It's for your own sake that I have taken these restrictive measures,' he said in his best professional manner. 'I'm not easily fooled, yet I confess I had no suspicions of you. But your violent outbreak and the persistent way you have clung to your delusions leave only one course open to me. Do you remember any great shock or acident in your life?'

"I saw where he was heading, and boiled over.

"'No shock like finding you a scoundrel and a thief!' I jumped up from my chair. 'Of course I see your game, Doctor. I know too much for my health, and therefore you are prescribing a rest for me here under your eye.'

"He looked at me without moving a muscle, patient still, but a little stern.

"'In the last few days,' he said, "I've gathered considerable information about your past life. You are, I find, an Australian, an actor born in Melbourne. Your name is not Kelsey but Haworth, James Haworth.'

"That was a bit too thick, and I told him so. The devil listened to me quietly, never altering his expression. He was the grave, kind medical adviser.

"'You say, "What rot!" and say it quite seriously,' he came back at me; 'for yours is a case of duel personality. You started life as a young physician. Something occurred, a shock of some sort. Your secondary personality asserted itself, and you became an actor. This continued for a time and then the doctor personality reasserted itself and you came to this country. In neither of these states is there any remembrance of the other. There may eventually occur—and I think I can help you in such a crisis—a struggle between the two personalities, and it will then devolve upon you to decide which one you wish to retain, definitely putting the other away. In the meantime, I feel it my duty to keep you under observation.'"

While he talked, Kelsey was aware that the girl was following his narrative with an almost feverish intentness, and he wondered again at her self-control.

"Careful!" he warned quickly. "Miss Copley has come out and is looking for you." He slouched back on the bench, looking more bored and gloomily abstracted than ever.

The nurse crossed the lawn swiftly, her face darkening as she caught sight of the two on the rustic seat.

"Verna!" she called. "Verna!" There was an anxiety bordering on panic in her harsh, unmodulated voice.

The girl did not respond at once. Then she started and looked about her, as if she had just returned from a far country and the present surroundings were unfamiliar. But at another, "Verna!" she rose obediently and held out the notebook and pencil.

"Look," she said; "see all I've written. He," with a gesture toward Kelsey, "gave me the book and pencil."

"How nice." The nurse was composed again. 'Now give them back to him dear, and come in the house. I have a hat I want you to try on."

CHAPTER IX

JUAREZ CHARLIE was beginning to feel oppressed and uneasy. Three days had passed since the hat was taken out of Ranger's car, and there had been no succeeding developments. Again and again he had explored the straggling neighborhood where he lived, searching each fence-post 'and hoarding for another of those cabalistic communications, but without results.

On the fourth morning as, after another fruitless hunt, he brought out the motorcycle which Ranger had insisted on his accepting in order to facilitate his movements, and prepared to start for town, he had the air of a discredited prophet who has lost honor even with himself.

As he drew up before the entrance to Loring's office the outer guard to whom he was now a familiar figure waved him along toward the office with the jocular announcement that the boss had been just on the point of sending out a general alarm for him.

Glumly he pushed up the corridor and opened the office door; then stopped short on the threshold and began awkwardly to back away.

Inside, Ranger and Eustace Higby, the attorney, were in earnest discussion over a letter which Higby held in his hand; while over by the window stood Mrs. Ranger intently studying a photograph.

The slight noise made by Charlie's intrusion and his mumbled apologies for blundering into a family group roused the three from their preoccupation; and Ranger, stepping quickly over, caught the retreating Juarez by the arm and drew him into the room.

"It's come, Charlie!" His eyes were shining. 'Just as you said it would, old boy. A photograph and the demand for money. Found them on my desk when we came back from lunch."

'Mary Lou, this is Charlie."

She dragged her gaze from the snap-shot, and held the picture up for him to see.

"It's the hat all right." He tried to throw some enthusiasm into his voice; but this atmosphere of jubilation left him feeling dry and meager. It was, as he told himself, too darned premature. Charlie had his superstitions.

"Yes; and it's Hope, too," Ranger declared. "We couldn't be fooled on that point."

"Oh, yes; it is certainly Hope." Mrs. Ranger's voice trembled with emotion. "How can we ever thank you, Mr. —?" She hesitated, flushing faintly. She felt that she ought to know his name, and yet she could not remember ever having heard her husband use it. She compromised hastily on, "Mr. Juarez."

"I'm mighty glad to have the chance of meeting you, too, Mr. Juarez." Higby held out his hand. "You've been the sole person to throw any light on the puzzle."

"That absurd hat!" Mrs. Ranger smiled deprecatingly. "And yet you were right about it, Mr. Juarez. It does prove conclusively that the picture was taken within a day or two, doesn't it?"

"They snapped her when she wasn't expecting it, I guess," Charlie explained; "and she's laughing at herself in that sky-piece."

To Charlie's relief Ranger reminded him just then that he had not yet read the letter.

He took it, ran over it perfunctorily, and laid it back on the desk without comment.

Charlie cocked his eye at the ceiling, and made an heroic attempt to look thoughtful

"Seems fairly plain," he said. "They tell you, if you leave $100,000 under a railroad crossing on the Lone Hill road at four o'clock tomorrow afternoon, your daughter will be returned; and they warn you that if you fail, or try to double-cross them in any way, you'll never see her again. That's about all there is to it, so far as I can see."

Higby, more astute than the others, realized that he was not going to be led into expressing his real opinion in the presence of Mrs. Ranger, and tactfully succeeded in getting her to leave with him.

Junior Register, It Appeared, But Looked Like Somme Soldier

Yes, the Junior Register appeared yesterday.

It appeared as if it had taken part in the second battle of Bull Run. General William Lawrence took the role of "Non Plush Ulster."

But it appeared, which the mechanical department thinks was wonderful considering the amount of stuff paid for that had to run.

Coupled with the already serious situation came the world's series. Charles Wheatley, telegraph editor, predicts, confidentially, however, that the Giants will win three straight and that the "serious" won't be with us next week.

ANAHEIM OPERETTA PLOT IS SKETCHED

ANAHEIM UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Oct. 10.—The girls and boys' glee club are going to present the operetta, "The Gypsy Rover," soon.

This operetta consists of three acts and is built around the character of Rob, later known as Sir Gilbert Howe, of English nobility. Rob is stolen when an infant by his nurse, Meg, who later becomes the wife of Marto to be his parents.

It happens one day while riding with her fiance, Lord Craven, Lady Constance Martendale becomes lost in the woods. They wandered to the gypsy camp, where Rob and Constance meet and fall in love at first sight. Lord Craven objects to Rob's attitude, but in a very funny comedy scene with Marto, and Sinfo, a gypsy lad, he is made to tell Sir George, Constance's father, who later comes in search of her, that Rob is a charming fellow.

In the second act Rob goes to the home of Constance and serenades her. They plan to elope, but the overheard by Craven, who informs Sir George, and together they plan to capture Rob. Their plan is successful and Rob is thrown into prison, but he later escapes.

Two years elapsed, and Rob has come into his estates, his identity having been proven by Meg. He becomes a successful composer, a friend of the prince and a social lion.

Constance has remained true to Rob and on his return to England he woes and wins her for his wife. They lived happilly ever after.

There are also some pretty love affairs between Nina, Sir George's second daughter, and Captain Jerome, of the English army, and between Zara, belle of the gypsy camp, and Einfo, the gypsy lad, and many comedy scenes by Sinfo and Marto.

BEACH STUDENTS SUPPORT, DEBATING

HUNTINGTON BEACH UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Oct. 10.—"Resolved, that immigration into the United States be prohibited for a period of five years," is the question for debate in the Orange County league for this semester. Huntington Beach negative meets Santa Ana's affirmative at Santa Ana, while Garden Grove's negative meets Huntington Beach's affirmative at Huntington Beach November 16.

Mrs. Hazelton, the coach, urges the students to enter the tryout, which will be held Friday, October 12. This determines who will be on the first and second teams, eight places being open. Last year there were twenty-three in the tryout, one-tenth of the school's enrollment. Twenty-one are already enrolled for this year's contest.

Last year Huntington Beach entered the Southern California as well as the Orange County league, and achieved marked success, debating with South Pasadena and Los Angeles.

Five of Huntington Beach's best debaters graduated last spring. Edith Colburn, Lucile Radford, Raymond Vandruff, Charles Cook and George Bundschuh. The loss of so many experienced debaters is keenly felt, but prospects are good for building up new teams this year.

GROVE SOPHOMORES ENTERTAIN "FROSH"

GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Oct. 10.—Saturday evening, October 6, was a most exciting time of the year for the freshmen of Garden Grove high school. The Sophomores were giving the frosh a reception.

The following program was given:

Address of Welcome, "It Pays to Advertise," Harry Munz.

Reply, "Non-Skid," Raymond Munz.

Piano Solo, "A New Cord," Lucille Smith.

"It's Time to Retire," Prof. Hoenshel.

"A Broken Spring,' Paul Spring.

The program was enjoyed by all, but the speech given by Mr. Spring, who was assisted by Tom Jentges, was a laugh all the way through.

The "audience' was divided into groups which were told to put on a "stunt.' They were all very amusing to those who were watching.

Other games were played throughout the evening, followed by refreshments which consisted of punch and wafers.

Special Days for Students at Plunge

HUNTINGTON BEACH UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Oct. 10.—For the benefit of the students and with teachers in charge, the county schools have reserved different days for the use of the Huntington Beach plunge.

As an act of accommodation, Mr. Barlow, the manager of the plunge, has set a special rate for each student, which is the sum of ten cents. For this sum the privileges of the plunge are extended together with the use of the dressing rooms.

Tuesday afternoon of each week is set apart for the girls of the local high school from 12 o'clock noon until 5 p. m., while the boys have their turn on each Thursday at the same hours. After 5 p. m. the plunge is again open to the public. This arrangement is to continue for the entire school term.

TUSTIN SACK RUSH IS HUGE SUCCESS

TUSTIN UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Oct. 10.— Black eyes, broken thumbs and sore muscles are noticeable evidences of many accidents which appear on the freshmen and sophomores. The freshmen are jubilant; the sophomores sorrowful, but ready to fight.

The fire was grand; the management fine and most of all the fight was a good, clean, fast and furious mix-up. The freshies annexed the most sacks. Luck was with them and they won, that's all.

The booths did a fine business. The junior booth was declared (by the juniors) to be the most beautiful and novel. This was accomplished by decorating the car of one of the juniors with the school colors instead of building the customary booth.

The net proceeds from the booths, which are as yet not known, go to the student body treasury. The whole thing was a success and every one went home full, satisfied and happy.

HUNTINGTON BEACH IS LOSER TO G. G.

GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Oct. 10.—The Garden Grove football boys went to Huntington Beach for a practice game, in which all players who had been coming out regularly on the first team had a chance to play. Garden Grove won by the score of 18-0.

The game was played in three quarters, Garden Grove making a touchdown each quarter. Garden Grove stopped the beach boys every time, allowing them to make their yards only a few times.

The Garden Grove goal was never in danger. Following are the boys that had a chance to play: Crist, Walker, Ward, Munz, Russell, Umphress, Chaffee, Parks, McClough, Kearns, Messerall, Collins and Harris.

Garden Grove Picks Girls B. B. Players

GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Oct. 10.—About sixteen girls were given a tryout in a practice game with Tustin on the local court Wednesday, October 3. Miss Aiton, the coach, took, note of each girl's playing, and after the game chose the first team.

Be Truthful, Fair, Decent, Generous Creed of Harding

Warren G. Harding's "newspaper creed," which was issued to every worker on the Star, is indicative of the sincerity and fairness of the late president as a publisher. It reads:

"Remember, there are two sides to every question. Get the facts. Mistakes are inevitable, but strive for accuracy. I would rather have one story exactly right than a hundred half wrong. Be decent, be fair, be generous. Boost, don't knock.

"There's good in everybody. Bring out the good and never needlessly hurt the feelings of anybody.

"In reporting a political gathering, give the facts. Tell the story as it is, not as you would like to have it. Treat all parties alike. If there is any politics to be played we will play it in our editorial columns. Treat all religious matters reverently.

"If it can possibly be avoided never bring ignominy to an innocent man, woman or child in telling of the misdeeds or misfortunes of a relative.

"Don't wait to be asked, but do it without asking and, above all, be clean and never let a dirty word or suggestive story get into type.

"I want this paper so conducted that it can go into any home without destroying the innocence of any child."

ENGLISH CLUBS ARE NAMED FOR BIRDS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Oct. 10.—English classes of Huntington Beach union high school are organized as clubs and each one is named after a bird.

This idea was introduced four years ago by Mrs. Hazelton, who is head of the English department. The purpose is to bring out the social side of school life, as well as to teach the students parliamentary procedure, and give practice in public speaking.

Already the three junior English classes have organized and have taken the names Bluebirds, Larks and Orioles. Officers are installed for one-quarter of the year. Beside the usual officers are corresponding secretary and program managers.

The duty of the corresponding secretary is to attend to all club correspondence and write to members of the club who are ill or who, for any other reason, would appreciate a message.

Programs are given bi-monthly, and it is the duty of the program managers to provide for them. Usually there are readings, dramatic skits, reports, essays and musical numbers.

In connection with programs on special occasions such as Hallowe'en, Thanksgiving and Christmas, refreshments are served. The English class clubs have meant much to the happiness of the students as well as to advancement along scholastic lines.

SENIOR CLASS AT FULLERTON ELECTS

FULLERTON UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Oct. 10.—William Fahs was elected president of the senior class of this high school after a spirited contest. Verne McDermott was elected vice president, Dorothy Williams, secretary, Philip Oswald, treasurer, Claude Leach, yell leader, Geraldine Jencks, song leader.

The recommendations of the annual staff of Jean Dunlap for class historian, Winnie Mae Hardy, for class poet, and Ernest Hartz, class prophet, were unanimously accepted.

Santa Ana Trounced By Garden Grove Team

GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Oct. 10.—The football boys of this school motored to Santa Ana for a practice game with Santa Ana's class B. Although Santa Ana was out-weighed they put up a clean fight. Garden Grove crossed the Santa Ana goal three times, while Santa Ana crossed Garden Grove's goal twice, the score being 20 to 13. All the boys that went to Santa Ana had a chance to play. The following boys played: Collins, Messerall, J., Kearns, McColough, Messerall, Mitchell, Parks, Chaffee, Umphress, Harris, Crist, Walker, Jentges, Munz, Ward.

LIGHTWEIGHTS PRACTICE

HUNTINGTON BEACH UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Oct. 10.— The lightweight team, being better than last year because of experience, has a new and excellent coach from Pasadena, Dale Braybrooks. This team puts in faithful practice from 2:20 p. m. till 4 o'clock, falling on the ball, catching passes and scrimmaging. The lightweight team has had no league games as yet, but played a practice game with Fullerton Thursday, October 4. The score was a tie, 6-6. This team has had three scrimmages with the middleweight team, resulting in two victories for the lightweights.

OLD NEGRO MAMMY OF SOUTH PRAISED

By EMERSON STANLEY

GARDEN GROVE UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Oct. 10.—Several years ago in one of the Southern states, an old negress, with a basket on her arm, could be seen approaching our house on Monday morning, provided that the weather was fair. The purpose of this regular visit was to do the family washing. Having arrived, the old woman, familiarly called "Aunt Annie,' would open her basket and put on some old clothes contained therein, including a rag for her head, and proceed to her work.

If it was warm, she would take the screens off the windows, carefully lean them against the wall and prop the screen door open. If asked what was the cause of this procedure, she would reply with the conviction of long experience, that, as the screens kept some of the cool breeze outside, she removed them.

In discussing various topics of interest it was apparent that she did not consider education a very important item in the life of a person. She declared that the negroes were "no count,' because, after receiving a little education, they thought themselves above work.

She could be trusted to take nothing of value, if left alone in the house, for she was very religious. But, like other colored people, who did not consider it stealing to take anything to eat, she could not resist the temptation of a few groceries for her family larder or a plate of sliced watermelon.

Aunt Annie was a girl at the time of the Civil war, and held many of the ideas of that period. She represented the old type of negro, which is very unlike the present generation and is fast passing away.

Capistrano Students On Program of P.-T. A.

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Oct. 10.—On October 3, at a social, supervised by the Parent-Teacher association, several of the high school students were on the program for the following numbers:

Piano solos—'Chariot Race" and "Star of Hope," Marjorie Collis.

Piano trio—"La Chasse," Marjorie Collis, Marion Barnes and Ruth Williams.

Reading from Kipling, Gladys Landell.

Other numbers on the program were given by residents of Capistrano and Serra.

SOPHOMORES HONOR FRESHMEN AT BAKE

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO UNION HIGH SCHOOL, Oct. 10.—Friday evening, October 5, the sophomores gave a weiner bake at the beach in honor of the freshmen.

The party met at the high school and then went to San Juan Point. A bonfire was built and in order to make the time they had to wait shorter, they played games.

Some of them were: 'Three Deep," "Last Couple Out," "My Ship Went Sailing," "Hide and Seek," and "Polar Bear."

Wrestling matches were held and Stephen Erricarte received the honor of being champion.

The "eats" were then served, consisting of weiners, buns and pickles.

Among those present were Florence Cook, Polly and David Ross, Lina and Merl Rosenbaum, Gladys Landell, Ruth Williams, Romualdo Olivares, Billy Barnes, Stephen Erricarte, Ben Carrillo, Willie Forbes and Robert Lobo.

"What Are You Doing to Prolong the Life of Your Teeth and Your Good Looks?"

"The health of the people is one of the most important questions of the day." Anything which conceals information about health is little short of criminal.

People are entitled to know all about their teeth—all about dentistry—for infected teeth cause widespread sickness, disease and suffering. People cannot know of these things unless they are told, and the best way to tell them is to advertise.

I advertise—because advertising educates and tells where good dentistry can be had, and the great masses of the people are now getting good dentistry while under the old style only the favored few knew about it and could afford it.

News from Orange County

NEW LEASES AT NEWPORT ARE TAKEN, SAID

NEWPORT BEACH, Oct. 11.—Considerable interest was displayed here today when it was learned that field men of the Jackie Coogan, Buster Keaton and Texas holdings company, all oil concerns, had visited this section and acquired oil leases on a large amount of Newport property which indicated that drilling for the "liquid gold" would start within a few months.

Big Leases Taken

According to the report about the streets here, L. E. Swarts and D. R. White, both field men for the three oil companies have been in Newport Beach for the past month looking over this territory and working to gain the various oil leases, it was said. Thursday it was announced that they had leased Block 244, 143 and portions of blocks 43 and 42 as well as a portion of Block 140, of this city.

Several persons who profess to be in on the "know" of the situation, declared that the two field men had expressed themselves as confident that if this section of the country possessed oil it could be struck around 2900 feet. The terms of the lease, according to the report, call for drilling on the land within six months.

Seven geologists of the respective company have visited this section and are said to have declared that the apex comes this side of Heights, or West Newport and that the fault lays towards Newport Heights.

Standard Mentioned

The subsequent announcement according to rumor, to the effect that the Standard Oil company had leased the ground between Huntington Beach and this city on the so-called flats, has also strengthened the belief of persons in this city that not only will Newport Beach become a great harbor, but this will be hurried by the finding of oil and the subsequent establishing of a large oil field.

Those persons who control the land leased by the Coogan, Keaton and Texas holding interests are H. B. Tudor, H. Cordoss Sloane, John R. Lugo, E. Margaret Slaughter of Perris, Calif., Roy Collette, George Garfield and others about the city.

Fire Zone Ordinance In Orange Read Once

ORANGE, Oct. 11.—Orange's amended fire ordinance, substituted several weeks ago by the board of trustees following the protesting of scores of residences on the zoning ordinance drawn at that time, passed its first reading before the board Tuesday.

Under the amended ordinance, the fire lines are extended on a number of the principal streets, particularly North Glassell street, South Glassell street and on Olive and Lemon streets.

Buildings erected in this district will have to be built of fireproof construction.

PROTEST OIL ZONING.

ORANGE, Oct. 11. — Although they did not take formal action with the proposed "oil well" ordinance the board of trustees at their regular meeting Tuesday heard the protests of Mrs. Dr. A. H. Tyrrell and M. Marx, both property owners in the section of Orange which it is proposed to exclude from the oil district in the new proposed zoning of the oil well district.

Further hearing of protests on this ordinance will be heard at the next regular meeting of the board.

INTEGRITY Studebaker SERVICE

COMPARE

The Maximum of Proved Intrinsic Value VS. Many Extravagant Claims of Superiority

So many announcements of new model cars contain extravagant claims for the same superiorities that it is puzzling to the buyer to know which value is real and which is only a claim.

This year the issue has been confused by the introduction of mechanical changes, some of which have been rushed into production while still in the experimental stage—and then immediately given wide publicity.

But the man who intends to buy a motor car need not let this confusion or this glamour of publicity lead him to make a mistake or risk satisfaction in his purchase. The automobiles themselves are available for comparison.

See and be convinced. Riding is believing.

As an aid to intelligent buying we offer the following suggestions:

Place the 1924 model Studebaker Light-Six Touring Car at $995 alongside any car you may select as belonging in the same class. Every car looks well in the pictures—most cars make a good impression in their own show windows. The Studebaker Light-Six looks a winner alongside the best-looking competitor you can find. And it's larger, more substantial, roomier, more comfortable looking—and is more comfortable.

Compare the top. Look inside and out. The Studebaker top is sturdily built. Has four stout cross bows. Top material is same as is so satisfactorily used in the Big-Six. Notice the fit, feel the quality. The rear curtain is one-piece—has no seams—with a large rectangular window bound by an enameled moulding.

Compare the body. Studebaker has a roomy, substantial, carefully made body—all-steel even to its framework, which permits a finish in baked enamel. A depressed belt line runs around the body and through the hood and radiator, adding to its distinctive appearance.

Compare the one-piece, rain-proof windshield, with built-in cowl lamps, with the ordinary two-piece windshield with rubber strip that leaks in every rain and always obstructs the driver's vision. Notice the large cowl ventilator that is quickly operated by merely moving the regulator backward or forward.

Compare the Studebaker door trimmings and fittings with the door fittings of other cars. Notice that the door pocket flaps have weights to hold them in position. Man-sized door handles and latches, positive-action door locks that catch with a snap and stay closed. Heavy hinges properly located and proportioned. Highest grade trimming material instead of painted cardboard. Fastening nails concealed.

Compare the aluminum-bound linoleum that is neatly fitted and fastened to the floor boards of this $995 Studebaker Light-Six with the rubber mats that cover the cheap, loosely-fitted floor boards in many other cars.

Compare the cheap robe rail (sometimes hemp rope covered with imitation leather) with the Studebaker nickel-plated rail. Compare the forty-cent footrest with the comfortable, carpet-covered footrest, supported by polished aluminum brackets, in the Studebaker.

These comparisons are of features that can be seen. There are many more down under the surface that could be mentioned, such as the machining of all surfaces of the crankshaft and connecting rods of the Light-Six motor. This is largely responsible for the practical absence of vibration in the Studebaker Light-Six. This is an exclusive Studebaker practice on cars at this price.

If competition is so far inferior in its visible parts, it is a certainty that the hidden parts which really determine the satisfaction of a car will be equally inferior.

The Studebaker chassis is as far superior to any other motor car chassis in its price field as Studebaker upholstery is to other upholstery, as the Studebaker body is to any other motor car body in its price field.

Come in and see the Light-Six. Test its performance and comfort yourself. Again—Riding is believing.

30 PER CENT GAIN SHOWN ON SCHOOL ROLLS OF S. A.

Santa Ana's school enrollment today was estimated at 5033, as compared with 3900 at this time last year, acording to records at the office of J. A. Cranston, city school superintendent.

The figures show an increase in school enrollment this year over last year of approximately 30 per cent, which is an increase equal to the report of the school gain at Long Beach this year.

San Bernardino and Riverside each had reported figures approximating 4800 in school attendance.

Gains Made Through Year

With an early enrollment of 3900 last year the total had grown before the end of the school year to 4586, an increase of 686 or 25 per cent.

The same steady rate of increase in enrollment this year would give Santa Ana a school attendance of 6283 before the school year closed.

Opening of twelve of the fifteen additional class rooms constructed during the past few months has enabled the majority of the city schols to change from half-day to full-day sessions. The McKinley grammar school still is holding half-day sessions. Additional classrooms there are due to be completed within fifteen or thirty days.

Complete Figures Listed

The new junior high school schould be ready early next year, according to progress reports. It is under construction on South Main street.

Artesia, 124; Jefferson, 326; Lincoln, 354; Lowell, 354; Logan, 99; Franklin, 354; McKinley, 387; Spurgeon, 423; Roosevelt, 282; John Muir, 219; Junior high schools, 1080; high school, 783; junior college, 225.

'KING OF KOKOMO' TO BE ELKS' SHOW

With Donald S. Hopkins in charge of the preliminary arrangements, dates for the fall show to be given by Santa Ana Lodge No. 794, B. P. O. E., were announced today by Secretary W. W. Wasser.

"It was decided," said Wasser, "that the fall show, known as the Elks Christmas show, should be held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, November 21, 22, and 23. This year's show will be a musical comedy, entitled "The King of Kokomo," and rehearsals, under direction of Donald S. Hopkins, will begin in the near future. The show will be given at Yost's theater."

At Tuesday night's meeting of the local lodge, announcement was made that the trustees had decided to take immediate action in connection with equipping women's quarters in the basement of the club. Five thousand dollars, according to Wasser, will be spent in remodeling and furnishing the room to be used for this purpose.

Within the next three months, it was said, the club restaurant will be removed to the basement, near the women's quarters, and Elks and their friends will be served in newer and larger quarters.

"In the women's quarters," Wasser explained, "we will have every modern convenience, where the wives, sisters, mothers, and daughters of Elks will be welcome on all occasions. Cards will be issued upon request of Elks. We hope to be able to dedicate the new quarters within the next three months."

Annual roll call will be in order when the lodge meets Tuesday, October 23. This meeting, attracting large numbers, will be featured by an entertainment and banquet.

Education Efforts In Praise For Decreases In Traffic Fatalities

The fact that no fatalities have occurred in Orange county from automobile or oil field accidents within the past month and a half, was ascribed today by Coroner Charles D. Brown to definite circumstances.

So far as the traffic fatalities are concerned, Brown was inclined to believe that publicity given the new state motor vehicle act, together with local campaigns of education for prevention of traffic law violations, which usually are held responsible for accidents, was worthy of credit for the unbroken period of safety.

The automobile clubs' co-operation with traffic officers and District Attorney A. P. Nelson in traffic schols was held to be a factor in the situation.

Oil-field accidents have been reduced, Brown believed, by curtailed operations, which are now mostly confined to crews of experienced men, better equipped to handle themselves.

'Influence' Driving Charge Facing Man Held in Fatal Blaze

Manuel Felly, one of three Mexicans arrested near Greenville last Sunday and held for investigation in connection with Sunday's fire at Talbert, where W. Randell, 82, burned to death, was held under $300 cash bail today on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. His preliminary hearing was set by Justice J. B. Cox late Tuesday for October 30, at 2 p. m.

Complaint against Felix was filed by Deputy Sheriff Dan Adams, the arresting officer. Adams also filed a complaint against Eliodoro Ybarra, a companion of Felix, charging him with driving a car without an operator's license.

The Mexicans were said to have been seen driving rapidly from Talbert just before the fire was discovered. The two cars they occupied collided near Greenville. A fourth Mexican, whose name was not learned, was slightly injured in the wreck.

Youth Held As Burglar In Rooming House Here

Arrested on a warrant charging him with burglary in connection with the alleged looting of a local rooming house conducted by Mrs. Beulah Frost, the complaining witness, Manuel Morales, 19, Santa Ana, was being held in the county jail here today in default of $500 bail, pending a preliminary hearing November 2 at 2 p.m. before Justice J. B. Cox.

Neglect of Children Charge Is Sustained

John Marino, Anaheim, charged with failure to provide for his four minor children, today was awaiting arraignment in the superior court here, having been held to answer at a preliminary examination late Tuesday before Justice G. B. Brown of Anaheim. Deputy District Attorneys D. G. Wettlin and Otto Jacobs conducted the prosecution.

SEEKS ESTATE LETTERS

A petition for letters of administration was on file today in the superior court here in connection with the estate of Herman Grau, who died here September 15, leaving personal property valued at $4339.09 to his mother, Mrs. H. Grau, of Racine, Wis. The petition was filed by Charles D. Brown public administrator, through Attorneys Head, Rutan and Scovel.

SEEKS TO PROBATE WILL

Mrs. Laura Moye, of Santa Ana, had today filed a petition in the superior court to probate the will of her late son Henry Moye. Moye left an estate valued at $25,000, including $10,000 in real estate and a similar sum represented by notes and securities. Scarborough, Forgy and Reinhaus represent the petitioner.

WIFE CHARGES CRUELTY

Mrs. Edith Nichols charged mental cruelty and failure to provide, in her divorce complaint against William I. Nichols, which was on file today in the superior court, through Attorney Clara R. Cushman of Santa Ana. Mr. and Mrs. Nichols were married August 11.

START SURVEY OF PLOT FOR CEMETERY

Orange county's million dollar cemetery de luxe, a burying ground which promises to eclipse in dignified interment facilities anything in Southern California and which will bring the creation of a veritable peaceful Eden at Westminster, was today about to become a reality as plans went forward for the surveying of the 160-acre plot.

Long Beach capitalists are said to be behind the project, which may involve the expenditure of $1,000,000 before the ground is completed.

There will be no upright headstones and the appearance of the funeral park will be that of a vast sloping lawn with flowers in profusion, blooming trees and peaceful knolls. An underground water system will provide irrigation A huge mausoleum will be constructed and raised in solemn majesty to the memory of the dead. A crematory is in project as is also a chapel.

Three roads will lead from the cemetery and a railroad spur is to be constructed, it was learned. Orange trees from one of the tracts purchased are to be transplanted to beautify the plot.

The corporation has purchased forty acres from W. J. Edwards, eight acres of the Heath property, known as the old Mallet ranch, ten acres from Stanley Coates, twenty acres from Dr. M. L. Richards, ten acres from O. B. Byram.

It is understood that the directors of chambers of commerce in Orange county, Long Beach and other cities near there will be asked to take a hand in the direction of the plot through an association. Further details as to this plan could not be learned.

Stage and Screen

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS

YOST—Vaudeville and "The Lone Star Ranger," with Tom Mix.

WEST END — "The Common Law," with Conway Tearle.

TEMPLE—"The White Rose," with Mae Marsh.

WORK ALL NIGHT TO GET "COMMON LAW" SCENES

Several of the principal players and more than five hundred extras worked through two nights making scenes for "The Common Law," the picture now showing at the West End theater. The scenes represent one of New York City's big cafes on New Year's Eve, and one of the largest sets ever used in Hollywood was constructed—a replica of one of Broadway's famous gilded palaces. A jazz band played through both evenings to supply music to the dancers, and a ton of confetti, streamers, garlands, etc., was demolished in the effecting of wild pre-prohibition hilarity.

Corrinne Griffith, Conway Tearle, Elliott Dexter, Phyllis Haver. Bryant Washburn, and Harry Myers served in the all-night vigil which lasted until five o'clock in the morning.

Several well known screen players visited the set and took part in the scenes of the frolic, and practically every extra in Hollywood was needed to fill the immense cafe. Ginger ale flowed freely from champagne bottles, and Director Archainbaud secured the true atmosphere of a bacchanalian revel.

NEW TOM MIX JICTURE PLEASES AT YOST

Tom Mix, hero of a hundred western films ,came to the Yost theater last night in "The Lone Star Ranger," adapted for the screen from the well known Zane Grey novel of that name.

There is not a dull moment in the unraveling of the romantic story of love, adventure and the life of the Texas Rangers who kept the peace of the oLne Star State. Assisted by "Tony," the brightest horse this reviewer has ever seen in motion pictures, Mix ambles through a series of thrilling sequences.

Billie Dove,- the feminine lead, formerly was with Florence Ziegfield's Follies at the Amsterdam Roof in New York and her sterling screening qualities speak well of Mr. Fox's selection. Her support is flawless.

"STRANGERS OF THE NIGHT" CLOSES TONIGHT

During the shooting of Fred Niblo's latest production, "Strangers of the Night" which has set all picture fans talking that have seen it and which will be screened for the last times tonight at the New Princess theater, the studio at Hollywood was turned into a big reception room. This happened to be due to the marriage of Barbara aL Marr to Jack Daugherty, the actor. Miss La Marr has one of the leading roles in "Strangers of the Night," and the company became aware of the event, although the time of the ceremony was a secret. Somehow or other the news leaked out and Miss La Marr was pleasantly surprised when she returned to Hollywood from Satna Barbara.

The whole cast turned out for the afafir. Among those present were Mr. Niblo, Enid Bennett, who also plays in her husband's production, and Matt Moore, who plays opposite Miss Bennett. Of course Miss aL Marr herself was there, as well as Robert McKim, the scheming villain in the picture, also Otto Hoffman and other members of the cast, and Bess Meredith who prepared the scenario for "Strangers of the Night" for Niblo.

There will be two performances this evening at 6:30 and 8:45 o'clock.

Auto Theft Case Man Freed; Companion In Rented Car Is Sought

A charge of grand larceny had been dismissed today by Justice J. B. Cox in the case of Worth Prescott, Santa Ana, who was accused in connection with the alleged theft of a rented automobile from H. S. Vaughn of this city.

Prescott came before Justice Cox late Tuesday. Jake Griffin, charged jointly with Prescott, has not been apprehended and is said to be at large with the car. Prescott convinced the court that he merely had been with Griffin when the car was rented by the latter. He had left Griffin shortly afterward, he said.

POMONA ALUMNI TO CELEBRATE FOUNDING

Joining with fifteen other alumni associations, in various parts of the Southland, the Orange County club of former Pomona students and alumni will celebrate the founding of the college thirty-six years ago with a banquet at St. Ann's Inn, here Saturday, at 6:30 p. m., it was announced here today by those having the affair in charge.

In connection with the celebration here and elsewhere, the college issued the following statement, showing that the original Founders' day, October 14, falls on Sunday, so the celebration this year had been set for Saturday.

"The purpose of this Founders' day celebration is to keep alive the interest of the 1511 alumni and to renew and maintain the interest of the 3300 ex-students in the present and future welfare of the college. The alumni are scattered over thirty-nine states, the Hawaiian islands and eight foreign countries.

Flame Ceremony Features

"The organizations at the following places will hold formal gathering, at which the old friendships will be cemented, the old victories recalled and new inspirations imparted for the future:

"New York city, Cambridge, Mass., Washington, D. C., Waikiki Beach, Honolulu, Evanston, Ill., and in California at San Diego, Santa Paula, Los Angeles, Berkeley, Highland, Tulare, Big Pine, Santa Barbara, Long Beach, Santa Ana and Claremont.

"At each gathering an address will be given by some prominent alumnus of the college or some member of the faculty.

"A distinctive feature of the celebration at every place will be the 'ceremony of the flame,' which will precede the reading of the greetings from the senior class and the president of the college. The 'ceremony of the flame' was instituted at the first Founders' day celebration, held October 14, 1921, at Ontario, Calif.

"At this gathering Dr. Charles B. Sumner, founder of Pomona, still living and active as a member of the board of trustees, lighted twenty-five large candles.

"One of these candles goes to each club and will be lighted each year by the oldest alumni present, and from this, other candles used in the flame ceremony will be lighted.

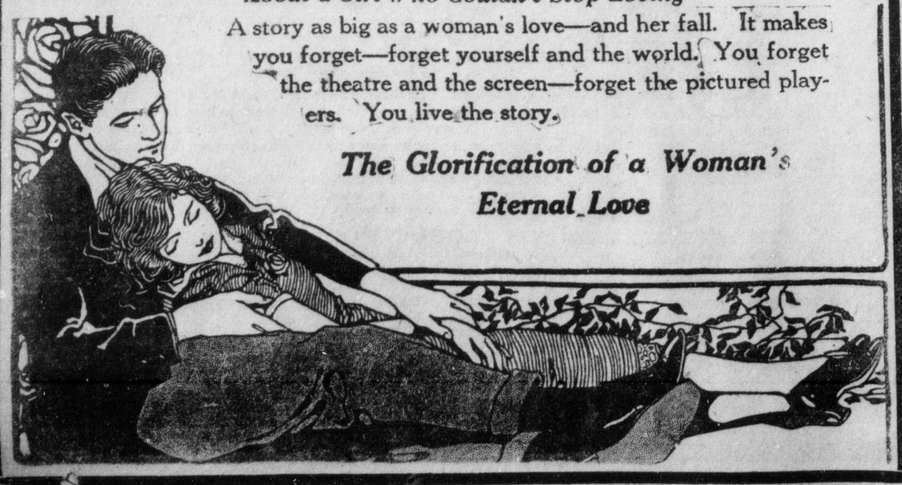

"The college which began humbly in a single frame building, with only nine acres of campus and seven teachers, with resources so small as to be negligible, and with only eleven in the first graduating class, has developed until today it comprises 20 buildings, 125 acres of campus, a faculty of 70, and graduated at its last commencement 146 students.

"'A Miracle in a desert' has been wrought during this period, and today Pomona has become 'a college in a garden'."

A PUZZLE A DAY

Two men held a continued correspondence for two years. At the end of that period they found that one had sent more letters than the other, and if the amount they had spent on postage was deducted from $7.20 the result would be just one-eighth of the amount they spent. How many letters did each send?

Yesterday's answer:

1 ΦΙΛΑΝΘΡΩΠΙΑ
2 ΦΙΛΑΝΣΧΩΠΙΑ
3 ΜΩΛΑΝΣΧΩΠΙΑ
4 ΜΕΛΑΝΣΧΩΠΙΑ
5 ΜΕΛΑΝΣΟΛΙΑ

The five steps from the Greek word "philanthropia" to the English word "melancholia" are shown above. Two adjacent letters are shown in each step.

EVENING SALUTATION

When one that holds communion with the skies
Has filled his urn where these pure waters rise,
And once more mingles with us meaner things,
'Tis even as if an angel shook his wings:
Immortal fragrance fills the circuit wide,
That tells us whence his treasures are supplied.

THE FAIR AT RIVERSIDE

Those who have attended the Southern California fair at Riverside this week bring back enthusiastic reports. The Riverside fair has been in operation as an annual event for a number of years and is growing steadily and rapidly in favor throughout the southern end of the state.

The fair idea seems to have established itself permanently in California. Beginning with early September and running to December there is hardly a week that does not present a fair somewhere in California. Among them, we find our own Orange County fair holding a high place for standard of exhibits and entertainment.

The Riverside fair makes a strong feature of horse racing. The sport is conducted along the cleanest of lines, and the events as staged at Riverside are doing much to bring horse racing back into popularity.

The fair is strong in its stock department. But it would be unfair to emphasize any department over another, for the fair throughout is well balanced and admirably staged. The Riverside committees are to be congratulated.

TURKEY FOR THE TURKS

Our charming friends the Turks are still feeling their oats. Not content with driving out of their country the Greeks and Armenians, they seem determined to drive everybody else out. The race that was to be "kicked out of Europe" for its conduct in the World War, added to its record of iniquity through several centuries, is now happily engaged in kicking Europeans out of Constantinople.

The Angora government bluntly ordered away the allied warships that had been patrolling the great waterway connecting the Black Sea with the Mediterranean ever since the armistice. Uncle Sam, well known friend of all the world, had kept a few small cruisers hanging around the Sea of Marmora, for observation purposes and the casual protection of Americans. Mustapha Kemel, in his fit of nationalistic fervor, harshly commanded them to move on after the rest. And since Uncle is not looking for a scrap, with Turks or anybody else, they moved on.

That is all right with us. Americans may not like the tone of Kemel's voice or the lines of his headgear, but they recognize his divine right to insist on Turkey for the Turks if he wants to.

The sequel will come later on, as sequels usually do. What those precocious Young Turks forget is that Turkey has never amounted to anything in modern times without the utilization of the brains and business ability of the nations she now flouts. The latter can get along, for the most part, very well without Turkey. If Turkey can get along without them, the character of the Turk is miraculously transformed.

Soonor or later, we shall find the Turks begging us, and perhaps our European friends, too, to come back.

MILES PER GALLON

One of the most remarkable facts developed by the trial trip of the naval airship ZR-1 to St. Louis was its low fuel consumption. On its return trip, from Chicago to Lakewood, N. J., with its six big motors running, the ship used only 654 gallons of gasoline.

That is less than a gallon per mile. Many a small yacht burns more. The record is almost incredible, when one remembers that this dirigible is about as big as the Leviathan.

It takes great power to drive such a huge bulk through the air at 50 to 75 miles an hour. Against the frontal air resistance, however, must be weighed the fact that the dirigible is self-sustaining in the air, being buoyed up by its gas bag, whereas an airplane has to use much of its available energy merely in keeping up.

It is a new proof of the efficiency of the celebrated Liberty motor produced during the war by American engineers. It is also another striking exemplification of the power that Nature has bottled up in the marvellous fluid which we call gasoliine and our English friends call petrol. Steinmetz, the electrical expert, says there is as much energy in a pint of gasoline as there is in an average lightning stroke. After such a performance as that of the ZR-1, it sounds possible.

The fact that most of our little, crawling automobiles only get 10 to 20 miles per gallon is humiliating. They ought to do better.

EDUCATION WEEK

The days from Nov. 18 to Nov. 24 are to be observed throughout the land as American Education Week, according to the plans of the United States bureau of education. It is hoped this year that the programs will be carried out by entire communities instead of being confined to the schools.

Such special subjects as the federal Constitution, patriotism—the practical sort that means loyalty to American ideals of sound citizenship—local school conditions, our duty to foreign born residents, illiteracy and its elimination, better training for rural teachers, the importance of public libraries and community centers, consideration of equal opportunity in education for every boy and girl are among the suggested program features. The week's observance is scheduled to end with a health parade of children. The government bureau has ready for distribution pamphlets of material on these various programs.

We consider ourselves an educated nation, but, while illiteracy exists and while equal opportunity for education is still denied to some children, there is great need of continued discussion and publicity in regard to education—its purpose, its present status, its problems and betterment.

HEALTH OBSERVERS

Under the auspices of the health section of the League of Nations, a large group of representatives from France, England, Italy, Russia, Poland, Spain, Holland, Belgium, Greece, Jugoslavia, Germany, Switzerland, Norway, Mexico, San Salvador, Brazil, Chile and Canada is now in this country following a course of study and observation of public health organization and administration.

At the close of the course the delegates will visit large and small cities in various states to observe health work. Before they return to their own lands these sanitarians will gather in Washington, D. C., for a final conference and review of their observations.

Far from perfect as is our public health work in this country it is vastly ahead of the older days of ignorance and indifference, and it is steadily changing for the better. It will be helpful to know the final opinion of these health visitors, concerning the points in which we are ahead of their countries and also the points about which we might learn from them.

About this time of year, a lot of those northering negroes turn from having no bananas to wishing they were in Dixie.

Lloyd George's Visit

Stockton Independent.

Lloyd George, who has just arrived for a visit in America, was given an enthusiastic reception in New York, and now, as was to be expected, the brilliant Welshman is being deluged with invitations to visit many sections of the United States. California will, no doubt, be one of many states to make an effort to have the honor of entertaining the ex-Premier; in fact, such invitations already have been extended by some of the San Francisco organizations. If Lloyd George should come to California, Stockton might perhaps have the good fortune to see and hear the distinguished statesman as he passed through, if it was found impossible to secure him for a longer time.

While we should be delighted to have Lloyd George visit us, it ought to be remembered that some consideration should be shown for his physical strength as well as for his personal desires and predilections. Nothing it seems to us could be more wearing and enervating than to be "personally conducted" and "made company of" every minute when making such a trip as Lloyd George is making just now. We have had sad examples of the results of those constant social demands that have proved to be beyond the endurance of even men of robust health and physique.

It is high time that we refrain from making martyrs of our presidents, visiting statesmen and other distinguished guests by demanding of them during a strenuous itinerary through the country what is humanly impossible. Our "company manners" will, of course, include in this protection those who visit us from afar, who because of their prominence, might very easily become the victims of well-meant but killing rounds of festivities.

Whether in a formal or informal capacity, Lloyd George comes to America as an envoy of good will and it is to be hoped that his visit will result in a closer cementing of those bonds of understanding and friendship that have too long existed between America and Great Britain.

Moxley's Teeth

San Diego Union.

We confess to a feeling of warm sympathy for Herschell B. Moxley of Gulpha, Ark., graduate of a Chicago correspondence school of aviation. Packing his correspondence school diploma in his pocket, Herschell walked all the way from Arkansas to Fort MacArthur, California, for the purpose of becoming an airman in Uncle Sam's well known and highly efficient army.

At Fort MacArthur Mr. Moxley, Bachelor of Aviation, was given a thorough physical examination. He passed well, until it came to the scrutiny of his teeth. It was found—to the horror and alarm, no doubt, of the dental surgeons—that Mr. Moxley had one less tooth than the required minimum laid down by the war department. He was rejected.

We not only sympathize with Mr. Moxley, but are inclined to look askance at the action of the examining officers. We contend that it may often be very unwise to enforce general regulations in a special case—and Mr. Moxley certainly was a special case.

In fact, it seems a burning shame that a man with initiative enough to wade through a correspondence course in flying, and to walk half across the continent for a chance to use his "knowledge" in his chosen field, should be rejected by reason of missing teeth. One of England's crack aviators during the war was a man whose right leg was so badly crippled, early in the game, that he had to use braces. If an aviator can win medals with a game leg, it seems to us that he could flutter along with no teeth at all—or perhaps a mouthful of artificial ones.

Joking aside, it seems too bad that the government should insist upon looking gift aviators in the mouth.

Is it wise for farmers to sell their barnyard fertilizer? There are hundreds of cars of fertilizer shipped off of farms that have the appearance of needing much of this food for their soil. That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

AN OLD FRIEND.

The world was startled recently when it was reported that a British scientist had discovered a cure for tuberculosis. A cure that would begin to show effects within thirty minutes.

Perhaps the announcement was premature, but the point claimed for the cure was interesting. That is, that it would destroy the fatty covering of the tubercle germ, and thus allow other remedial agents to neutralize or destroy the germ itself.

And so the thought came to me that a little fat upon your body was a very useful thing up to a certain point.

That is, that fat is a natural protection of the body tissues and is a sign of health.

Now what is my suggestion?

That the old fashioned idea of giving pure cod liver oil in run down and wasting conditions is a very wise one.

When we think of oils we may think perhaps of castor oil, and its use among children as a harmless but effective purgative.

When we think of olive oil we think of it more as a lubricant and heat producing force.

But when we think of cod liver oil we should think of the tremendous food value Nature has provided in the livers of cod, and perhaps other fish.

You see most of the foods we eat are half to three quarters water. When we take cod liver oil, we take into us an exceedingly rich food. Why a tablespoonful has as much food value as almost any article we'd take at meals, that is as much as a good sized piece of meat, or a helping of vegetables.

Cod liver oil is usually very easily handled by the digestive apparatus, and is ready to work in the system in an exceedingly short time.

This means that it supplies the energy so quickly, that the body does not get a chance to wear itself out by its ordinary work before the oil is on the spot to delay the process.

Then it contains vitamins which mean much to the growth of the cells of the body. Thus in children who are not gaining in weight, and in adults who are run down, or suffering with any wasting condition you can see that its two fold job-building up, and delaying destruction, is just what is needed.

George Crusoe's Discovery

Challenge to Public Schools

Kasas City Star

Herbert S. Hadley, newly elected president of Washington university, St. Louis, said in his first address to students:

There are in this country twenty million persons who cannot read, speak or write an English sentence correctly, and ten million whose ignorance approaches barbarism. The future of civilization is a contest between education and catastrophe.

An alarmist statement? Not a bit of it. The statement is a challenge to the American public school system; more than that, it is a challenge to democracy itself.

There is a challenge to the educational forces of the nation to do more than furnish instruction in letter or even training for an honest living. Literacy alone is not a guarantee of democracy or of good government. Your illiterate may be at least a safe individual, although the chances are against it; and the educated persons, as education commonly goes, may be a menace.

We shall get at the seat of the trouble not only by raising the general level of intelligence, but by providing the widest possible training in the duties of citizenship and in the moral responsibility of the individual.

The menace of America is a combination of ignorance and indifference. Ignorance is the rich mind worked unceasingly by the demagogue and the grafting politician; public indifference, arising from ignorance or otherwise, is as safe a guarantee as these enemies of the community, the state or the nation would desire.

In admonishing the students to prepare themselves for places of leadership and responsibility, President Hadley was mindful of the needs of modern society.

Worth While Verse

AT DUSK

Oh, the wide, quiet blanket of the dusk,
The windless, pulseless solitude that streams
Over the world at evening! I am mute
In that still hour; and though my full heart dreams
A thousand wistful, shadowy things, in vain
It gropes for speech made perfect to express
Its ache of awe and wonder * * * for what word
Has heaven or earth for dusk and loneliness?

Beyond my casement in the deepening gloom
The spires and roofs lie calm beneath the sky,
While one by one the windowed lamps are lit,
And one by one the silent stars * * * and I,
Just I, of all the world, must wait, and hark,
To catch the whispered secret of the dark.

In Angora, the Ancient

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS, In the Christian Herald

Few newspaper readers realize that the new capital of Turkey, the city of Angora, which is today one of the focal spots in the world's unrest, is none other than the ancient capital of the Roman Province of Galatia—the very same Galatia to the Christians of which the Apostle Paul addressed the Epistle to Galatians. I am sure that if the peace commissions at Lausanne had understood that historic fact they would often have vented their feelings by quoting, "O foolish Galatians!"

Angora was never visited by Paul, so far as any record shows. Galatia did not become a Roman province until 25 B. C.; and it was not until Nero's day that it was made a metropolis. Yet it was a great city, originally Phrygian, long before the Christian era. It was called, in Greek, "ancyra," which means anchor; and an anchor is the emblem on the early coins. So old is the city that it almost needs a course in ancient history to make its tale intelligible.

Aside from two good roads from the station to the city; and a fairly modern road encircling the city; and a few modern buildings, mostly schools, Angora is an unnoticed Turkish town. During four years the national parliament has been sitting here, and a real government has been created. All the brains and leadership of Nationalist Turkey have been concentrated in this spot. Yet the city shows no signs of improvement. There has been almost no new construction, no street cleaning, no attempt at modern sanitation. The streets are still as smelly as any other old interior Turkish town. The burned down Christian quarter has not been rebuilt at all. No hotel has been erected; the best hotelry is an old oriental khan. Members of parliament live in single rooms in private houses. The whole place is typically Turkish—the Turkey that missionaries know.

Nevertheless, if one holds one's nose, it is a beautiful city, picturesque and distinctive. Its citadel rises sheer five hundred feet from the plain—the elevation of the city is more than three thousand feet—and the mudbrick houses cling in terraces to its sides. Beyond, to the east, the snow-tipped Apple Mountains rear their graceful crest. Spread out on the plain below are clusters of houses and schools. Yonder is the Bolshevik embassy, with its red flag flying, and hard by that of Afghanistan. Three miles distant, up a ravine amid the trees, may be seen the comfortable home of Mustapha Kemal Pasha. Fertile plains smile at one from beyond the ancient graves, and give promise of a land of plenty when peace and progress have come.

Here in Angora one quickly finds that all the major political issues resolve themselves into questions of personal character—the character of the leaders and the character of the people. These flaming Nationalists are real patriots, and, in a less comprehending degree, so are the stolid, ignorant peasants, but all of them, for continuance and growth, need the dynamic of a great and purifying and brotherly faith. The thing that lasts is religious conviction.

This truth is made monumental in Angora by the Augustinian inscription. Archeologists and historians know it well, but the intelligent Turks with whom I talked seemed unaware of its existence. So I had to hunt for it without help. And behind the Hodja Bairam Mosque, and farming a wall of the latter, I found the long writing upon huge marble blocks which recount the glories and achievements of Caesar Augustus.

This long inscription in Latin, still perfectly legible except where unheeding builders of a later day have cut holes in it for the supporting beams of some temporary structure, was carved in the year 13 A. D.—about the time when the Boy Jesus was asking questions of the rabbis in the temple. It is in two parts, on opposite sides of the original building, and an ancient arch of Augustus joins the two. The whole is curious back-water in the life of the capital of modern Turkey; which is as unheeding of these ancient attempts to perpetuate imperial glory as the stork that has built its nest on the Augustinian arch.

Enemies

By Berton Braley

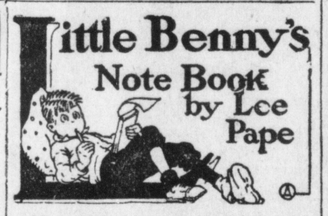

A man should plan to live his life
Without unnecessary strife,
And diplomatically try
To poke nobody in the eye.
But though he seeks not to offend,
He can't be everybody's friend;
However carefully he goes
He's bound to step on someone's toes.

However just, however fair
His aims and ends, he'll find somewhere
Somebody who will block his track
And try to stop or drive him back.
And if he goes ahead, then he
Has left behind an enemy.
Though one may hate acquiring foes,
He's bound to step on someone's toes.

However gentle be his smile,
A man can't do a thing worth while,
Either for others or himself
For love or charity or pelf,
Without achieving by degrees
A group of first-class enemies.
Experience distinctly shows
He's bound to step on someone's toes.

Wherefore no single test on earth
More clearly shows a man's true worth,
No better gauge can be desired
Than are the foes he has acquired.
We judge his virtues or mistakes.
And rest our good opinion on
The kind of toes he steps upon.

JOHNNIE of the CIRCUS and his CUFFY BEAR

By ARTHUR SCOTT BAILEY

"I want you to know Mr. Skinner," wheezed the Fat Lady. "He's the nicest man!"

Johnnie shuddered as the Living Skeleton reached out a cold, bony hand.

MR. SKINNER

Miss Boggs, the Fat Lady, was the first freak in the show with whom Johnnie Green became acquainted. The Living Skeleton, Mr. Skinner, was one of the last with whom Johnnie made friends. Perhaps there was a good reason for this. Nobody could help noticing the Fat Lady. If she was anywhere around, a person found it hard not to meet her. As for slipping past her when she was in one's path, Johnnie had found that all but impossible.

But with Mr. Skinner, the Living Skeleton, it was quite different. The lecturer in the side-show often remarked to the crowds that you had to look twice to see him, and that he never cast a shadow except immediately after a hearty meal. Certainly Mr. Skinner was not one to catch your eye easily. But once you did notice him, you never forgot him. He was so thin that it seemed to Johnnie Green his bones must rattle and creak whenever he moved.

It was the Fat Lady herself who introduced Johnnie to the Living Skeleton. She took hold of Johnnie's hand and led him towards the chair where the Living Skeleton was trying so desperately to look comfortable.

"I want you to know Mr. Skinner," the Fat Lady wheezed as she presented Johnnie. "He's the nicest man! Just the NICEST man!"

Mr. Skinner tried to smile as he rose and reached out a cold, bony hand. Johnnie shruddered as he shook it gingerly. Somehow he couldn't help feeling that it might fall to pieces unless he treated it with great care.

Now, Mr. Skinner was a very shy person. He was easily the most bashful man in the whole circus. He murmured something that Johnnie Green couldn't hear. And Johnnie mumbled something that Mr. Skinner couldn't hear. But they were introduced, anyhow.

"I'd like to stay here and talk with you two," said Miss Boggs, the Fat Lady. "But I must go and see the chef. He's cooking something special for me—something I'm very particular about. So I'll leave you here to entertain each other."

When Miss Boggs announced that she must go, Mr. Skinner began cracking his knuckle-joints at a great rate. This was a habit of his, when he was pleased. But when Miss Boggs added that he and Johnnie Green were to entertain each other, he stopped cracking his joints and looked miserable.

She left them. Mr. Skinner figeted in his chair, as if he were trying to find a comfortable spot on it, and couldn't. Johnnie twisted his cap in his hands. Neither of them could think of a word to say. But at last Johnnie felt that he simply must say something.

"Today's my birthday!" he blurted suddenly.

"You don't say so!" cried Mr. Skinner. "It's mine, too!" And he began to crack his knuckle-joints furiously.
